Multiple Troubles Spoil Mars Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Mariner III spacecraft was rocketed toward Mars Thursday, but a combination of problems apparently ruined the first U.S. effort to investigate the planet.

Mariner IV was being readied for a second try later in the month.

Tracking data was fuzzy, but it indicated that the second stage of the booster rocket shut down four seconds too soon. Solar cell problems would have silenced the satellite anyway.

'Humane' Prisons

MONTREAL (CP) — Justice Minister Favreau said Thursday the government plans to revamp Canada's penal system to make it more humanitarian and coherent.

Storybook Finish For House

TELAWA (CP) — It's happened in comic books, it's happened in movies and Wednesday it happened at Telawa.

The fire chief answered an alarm and when he arrived, it was his own house going up in smoke.

Fire chief Bill Ross and the volunteer fire brigade were unable to stop flames from destroying his $14,000 home here, 130 miles east of Prince Rupert.

Sentence For Life Demanded

MISSION (CP) — Two communities demanded Thursday that convicted sex slayer Kenneth Lloyd Meeker be incarcerated for life. (See earlier story, Page 8.)

The demands from the councils of the district of Mission and neighboring Mission City were wired to the federal cabinet.

They follow Tuesday's announcement that the cabinet committed Meeker's sentence of death to life imprisonment for the strangulation of 12-year-old Alice Mather in a gravel pit here in June, 1963.

Mayer Ethel Oyle of Mission City, who expressed shock Wednesday Meeker had been "let off that easily," said the councils of the two communities decided to protest separately.

Meanwhile, the Provincial Council of Women, which seeks abolition of capital punishment, also suggested he be kept in jail for life.

'Go Jump in the Lake'

KAMLOOPS (CP) — An angry Highways Minister Gagliardi has told Frank Howard to jump in a lake, mind his own business and stop being a disgrace to the nation.

He was replying to a letter which Mr. Howard, New Democratic MP for Skeena, wrote to him demanding development of a road between Williams Lake, in the Cariboo, and Bella Coola, on the coast.

Mr. Howard said the 300-mile road is in terrible condition.

He asked why the government can afford to offer $300,000 for paving the Alaska Highway and building other northern roads, but cannot improve the Bella Coola highway, in Mr. Howard's federal constituency.

"He can jump in the lake," answered Mr. Gagliardi. "I can run my own affairs. You tell him to look after his own business and stop being a disgrace to the nation."

Part of Mr. Howard's poetic protest reads: "The road is pimpled and warted with rocks. There are sharp rocks, spiked rocks, rugged, jagged, and craggy rocks. They are round, square, conical, oval, notched, toothed and spired. There are large rocks, medium-sized rocks, king-sized rocks and even some pebbles."

BREAK AHEAD IN FLAG-JAM?

OTTAWA (CP) — The political party leaders assemble in Prime Minister Pearson's office today in a new atmosphere of confidence that the Commons may soon come to a decision on a Canadian flag.

New Antibiotic

Penicillin's Successor

LONDON (Reuters) — A new antibiotic drug likely to prove the biggest discovery since penicillin has been developed by British scientists, it was announced here Thursday.

As potent as penicillin, the new antibiotic, ceporin, works even faster, will be cheaper to produce, and is successful with patients allergic to penicillin itself, its developers said.

EIGHT YEARS

Ceporin was developed by Glaxo Laboratories and will be produced solely in Britain. A research team of hundreds spent eight years and $1,500,000 on the project.

Dr. F. J. Wilkins, chairman and managing director, said ceporin had been found to be highly successful in the treatment of infections of the lungs, kidneys and bladder, and infections resistant to penicillin.

NO SIDE EFFECTS

About 200 patients had been treated with ceporin, he said, and the results were "miraculously rapid."

"So far, absolutely no side effects have been observed."

Dr. J. P. Currie, director of antibiotic research, said ceporin was used after everything, including penicillin, had failed to check meningitis developed by a 36-year-old man after a brain operation.

"Within 48 hours the man was sitting up in bed reading a newspaper."

Ceporin has been approved by the Dunlop committee which controls the distribution of new drugs in Britain. It will be available to doctors next week.

Resigns

Resignation for personal reasons of Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker, named last year to the B.C. Court of Appeal, was announced Thursday. The Vancouver Province says Vancouver lawyer Ernest Bolton Bull, 57, has been named a justice of the court.

William Head

Convict Flees In Fog

Police early today were seeking William Head inmate William J. White, who fled the minimum security prison under the cover of fog about 9:30 p.m. Thursday.

He was wearing institutional clothing and a brown jacket.

White is five feet seven and three-quarter inches tall, weighs 147 pounds, has brown hair with bits of grey, a low forehead and walks with his left shoulder high.

The opposition leaders are supposed to be reporting back to Mr. Pearson the views of their followers about setting an agreed time limit on the flag debate. They also may go into the question of how soon the debate will start.

But the question of a time limit was being treated Thursday as more or less a formality. No one expected Opposition Leader Diefenbaker or the Conservatives to agree ahead of time to a time limit.

NOT LONG

Nevertheless there was considerable confidence, both among government supporters and members of the official opposition, that even without a time limit the debate will not run long. The highest estimate seemed to be 10 debating days.

Two factors are cited in the running speculation on the flag in support of the conclusion that debate will be relatively short.

DECISION WANTED

One was the evident desire of a large number of Conservatives to have a decision on the design recommended by the committee—a single red maple leaf on a white ground with a vertical red bar at each side.

Many Conservatives believe, as does Mr. Diefenbaker, that the new design is unacceptable. But they aren't prepared to carry on a debate matching the 22 days of the previous one last summer.

GET TOUGH

The second debate-shortening factor is tied up with Mr. Pearson's get-tough line during a speech and television interview at Hamilton, Ont. Wednesday night.

Mr. Pearson said he expects the recommended design will be adopted by Christmas.

DEBATE ON REPORT

"We'll have a debate on the report of the flag committee and then we'll have a decision on that report."

Mr. Diefenbaker interpreted the words as threatening closure—use of a formal procedure under the rules to cut off debate. He asked about it in the Commons Thursday.

AGAINST INTERESTS

Acting Prime Minister Martin, substiting for his absent chief, wouldn't confirm or deny it but said he is sure Mr. Diefenbaker agrees it wouldn't be in the national interest for Commons business to be unduly protracted.

Mr. Diefenbaker suggested that the government should postpone the flag debate in favor of other important legislation. Mr. Martin replied he was glad to see Mr. Diefenbaker agreeing that there shouldn't be undue delay in handling Commons business.

END IN SIGHT

The whole tone of the exchange seemed to be that Mr. Diefenbaker recognized the end of the flag fust was in sight, provided the government did not rub it in and bowed to pressure to put legislation ahead of the flag debate.

In Tory Future?

Fulton

Balcer

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — Are recent public statements by prominent Conservatives evidence that Opposition Leader Diefenbaker is a target of leadership ambitions among associates?

A rash of speculation on this question has broken out in the last 10 days, spurred by statements on the proposed constitutional amending formula and the flag issue which differ either on policy or parliamentary tactics with stands taken by Mr. Diefenbaker.

EXPLANATIONS

But explanations of internal differences are almost as numerous as the evidence of such differences.

One theory is that Davis Fulton, the former justice minister, is campaigning to succeed the 69-year-old national leader. Mr. Fulton says he has no immediate plans to run.

'He's My Leader'

Fulton Denies Plot To Dethrone Chief

TORONTO (CP) — B.C. Conservative leader Davis Fulton said today he is not engaged in any "conspiracy" against the Conservative party leadership and has no plans to return to federal politics at present.

"There's a leader of the Progressive Conservative party and as far as I'm concerned, he's my leader and the question of a new leader does not arise," the former federal justice minister said.

To a reporter who drew his attention to a quotation from one federal Conservative source that "the Balcer-Fulton axis is at work," Mr. Fulton replied:

"There is absolutely no foundation for that. I haven't spoken to Mr. Balcer for three or four months."

Quebec Conservative leader Leon Balcer, a former cabinet colleague of Mr. Fulton, has been reported as leading a group of Conservatives in caucus opposing Mr. Diefenbaker's criticisms of the Lib-ate intention of leaving his post as the party's British Columbia leader although he is under pressure to return to national politics.

Another line of speculation is that the apparent disarray among Conservatives arises simply from efforts to put a brake on any intention Mr. Diefenbaker may have of forcing a general election.

This is based on the idea that the Conservatives have a good chance of forming a government after the next election. An election victory now under Mr. Diefenbaker would confirm him in his post as leader for a lot longer than might be the case if an election were a couple of years away.

DENIES POLL PLAN
Mr. Diefenbaker denies any intention of aiming at an early election.

Support also can be found for the theory that Conservatives are prepared to let nature take its course, a polite way of saying Mr. Diefenbaker is getting on in years, and that the current ferment is no more than potential leaders jockeying for position as successors when he steps down.

But hardly a Conservative sees the discussion of the constitutional amendment and the flag tactics as evidence of deliberate attempt to push Mr. Diefenbaker out of the leadership in the next few months.

Most of them seem agreed that this would not only split the party but would tempt the minority Liberal government to capitalize on the split by calling an election.

EVENTUAL CALL
A good many Conservatives say unhesitatingly that Mr. Fulton is preaching for an eventual call as national leader. This talk started this summer after Mr. Fulton made well-publicized appearances on national affairs at the Couchiching conference and the party-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals at Fredericton.

Publication of a private memorandum is regarded by some as indications of an alliance—eventually aiming at the leadership—between the Fulton forces and Quebec Conservatives.

The memo seemed to take roughly the same position as two former Diefenbaker cabinet ministers—Leon Balcer, the deputy national leader, and former mines minister Paul Maréchal.

It gave general support, with some reservations, to the government's proposed formula as similar to that negotiated by Mr. Fulton in 1961 as justice minister. Mr. Diefenbaker has been making strong attacks on the formula.

But if there's speculation about a Fulton-Balcer alliance, this is pegged to the Ontario premier's recent statements.

Speaking from the same platform as Mr. Diefenbaker, Mr. Roberts this week made a strong plea that the primacy of the national government be accepted, especially by French-Canadians.

eral constitution-changing formula.

As to any "conspiracy" in the leak of his memo, Mr. Fulton said he saw Mr. Diefenbaker two weeks ago while passing through Ottawa and at the opposition leader's suggestion drew up his comments on the formula and sent copies to Mr. Diefenbaker, a few former cabinet members and some lawyer-MPs in the Conservatives in the Commons. He had told Mr. Diefenbaker who got the copies.

"A pretty good way to run a conspiracy," he observed. He said he understood Liberal headquarters at Ottawa got a copy and had it duplicated for circulation.

Mr. Fulton said he regarded the memo as private—though he had not marked it confidential—and he was extremely concerned that what was intended to be helpful was being used in a way designed to embarrass Mr. Diefenbaker.

WOULDN'T COMMENT
He refused to be drawn into a discussion of whether Mr. Diefenbaker was correct in saying the present formula is essentially different from the so-called Fulton Formula.

"I am not prepared to comment on what Mr. Diefenbaker said," he replied. "Would he say he was in agreement in substance with the present formula?"

"It's a lovely day, isn't it," he parried. However, he did say that in principle the Liberal formula is much the same as his own, though he had explained in his memorandum that a new element had been added, and that the question of whether this should be accepted was a matter for a policy decision.

"I did emphasize that it must be carefully considered," he said.

Of his own possible return to federal politics from B.C., where his group does not have any seats in the legislature, he said:

"That's a decision I have to make. But it's not for the present time. I have a very sizeable job to do in British Columbia."

Blood Test Can Pinpoint Various Causes of Anemia

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD
Dear Dr. Molner: I want to donate blood and the bank wouldn't take it. They told me I was anemic and to go home and take a tonic. What causes this and what should I do about it?
J.D.S.

I hope the next anemic person who visits a blood bank will be advised to see his doctor. Anemia means either that the normal number of red blood cells are not present or that there is something wrong with the cells.

There are many kinds of anemia, and just as many causes, and no single form of treatment or "tonic" will fit all of them. You can't get anywhere by guesswork. But with certain blood tests your doctor can readily tell a great deal about which type of anemia is present, and what to do about it.

BLOOD LOSS
One is just from loss of blood—a bleeding ulcer, hemorrhoids, excessive menstruation. Sometimes the patient does not even know it.

Anyway, red cells may be lost faster than the body can provide new ones. The result? Anemia. Or faulty nutrition may be and often is the cause. The red cells contain hemoglobin (to carry fresh oxygen) and iron is vital for the creation of hemoglobin. So iron may be given in one form or another. (That's the "tonic" mentioned to you.)

SOMETHING LACKING
Yet there may be iron enough, but a lack of something else: Adequate protein, or tiny traces of copper which are necessary chemically if the body is to use iron properly, and probably Vitamin C and other vitamins must be present.

In still other cases, a blood disorder may cause the red cells to be of the wrong size or shape, and thus unable to carry out their assigned duties. And there is pernicious anemia, once a very dangerous disease indeed, but now controlled readily by periodic injection of Vitamin B 12.

There are other and more complicated forms of anemia.

but they are rare. If present, your doctor will find it out quickly enough.

Dear Dr. Molner: My left knee fills up with water after I have been up and around for a few hours every morning, and gets so swollen I cannot bend it by night. I am 66 and have nothing else apparently physically wrong. What could cause this?—MRS. C.W.W.

Quite a few possibilities. One, of course, is an injury. Or it could be from bursitis, from too much continued pressure from kneeling. Damage to cartilage or tendons in the knee proper must be considered. Arthritis at times can have such results as you describe. If your weight is excessive, it can be a big factor. With such a severe case, consult an orthopedist.

NOTE TO MRS. G.T.: Taking brewer's yeast to repel mosquitoes is based on the report that large doses of thiamine chloride (Vitamin B 1) can do this. The yeast is rich in Vitamin B.

Blood Test Can Pinpoint Various Causes of Anemia

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I went to a blood bank and the bank wouldn't take it. They told me I was anemic and to go home and take a tonic. What causes this and what should I do about it?

EDS. I hope the next anemic person who visits a blood bank will be advised to see his doctor. Anemia means either that the normal number of red blood cells are not present or that there is something wrong with the cells.

There are many kinds of anemia, and just as many causes, and no single form of treatment or "tonic" will fit all of them. You can't get anywhere by guesswork. But with certain blood tests your doctor can readily tell a great deal about which type of anemia is present, and what to do about it.

BLOOD LOSS One is lost from loss of blood in bleeding ulcer, hemorrhoids, excessive menstruation. Sometimes the patient does not even know it.

Anyway, red cells may be lost faster than the body can provide new ones. The result? Anemia.

Or faulty nutrition may be and often is the cause. The red cells contain hemoglobin (to carry fresh oxygen) and iron is vital for the creation of hemoglobin. So iron may be given in one form or another. (That's the "tonic" mentioned to you.)

SOMETHING LACKING

Yet there may be iron enough, but a lack of something else: Adequate protein, or tiny traces of copper which are necessary chemically if the body is to use iron properly, and probably Vitamin C and other vitamins must be present.

In still other cases, a blood disorder may cause the red cells to be of the wrong size or shape, and thus unable to carry out their assigned duties. And there is pernicious anemia, once a very dangerous disease indeed, but now controlled readily by periodic injection of Vitamin B 12.

There are other and more complicated forms of anemia, but they are rare. If present, your doctor will find it out quickly enough.

Dear Dr. Molner: My left knee fills up with water after I have been up and around for a few hours every morning, and gets so swollen I cannot bend it by night. I am 58 and have nothing else apparently physically wrong. What could cause this?—MRS. C.W.W.

Quite a few possibilities. One, of course, is an injury Or it could be from bursitis, or too much continued pressure from kneeling. Damage to cartilage or tendons in the knee proper must be considered. Arthritis at times can have such results as you describe. If your weight is excessive, it can be a big factor. With such a severe case, consult an orthopedist.

NOTE TO MRS. G.T.: Taking brewer's yeast to repel mosquitoes is based on the report that large doses of thiamine chloride (Vitamin B 1) can do this. The yeast is rich in Vitamin B.

Senate Must Act

Private Members Renew Western Bank Blockade

OTTAWA (CP)—The blockade against a bill to incorporate the Bank of Western Canada continued during private member's period House in the Commons Thursday.

The debate was stretched through an hour with repeated arguments over procedure.

A Creditist amendment before the Commons would shelve the bill for six months. Party spokesmen have argued that it should be dealt with together with the bill to incorporate the Laurentide Bank of Canada and the Bank of British Columbia. The bill dealing with the B.C. bank is still before the Senate.

ISOLATED
Barry Mather (NDP — New Westminster) said there is "very good reason" why British Columbia should have its own financial institution. Vancouver was isolated from the financial centre of Canada by almost the width of a continent. It was "questionable" that the non-elected Senate should give approval to two banks and lead the Senate into disrepute, style a third. One might wonder whether such action would lead the Senate into disrepute, style a third. One might wonder whether such action would

Hanged Spy Honored By Russia

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union Thursday bestowed its highest military and civilian award on Russian-born master spy Richard Sorge, who was hanged in Japan just 20 years ago.

The Hero of the Soviet Union award — announced by the Soviet Tass news agency — climaxed an extraordinary campaign to honor the spy who tipped Stalin of Nazi Germany's attack on the Soviet Union and Japan's plans to strike at Pearl Harbor.

Earlier this fall, the Soviet press ballyhooed Sorge's activities in wartime Japan in what was the first public admission the Kremlin maintains an intelligence network abroad.

In Wake of Criticism

Press Sees Women's Jail

TORONTO (CP) — Allan Grossman, minister of reform institutions, personally conducted a press tour of Mercer Reformatory Thursday after criticizing a grand jury report on the women's reformatory as both inaccurate and unfounded.

Mr. Grossman said, however, he did not want to comment extensively on the grand jury's charges until he had received a report from his advisory committee for treatment of the offender.

ANTAGONISM

The seven-man grand jury severely criticized the reformatory for using unqualified personnel, inadequate medical supervision, and for its basement detention cells where prisoners are put as punishment for from one to five days at a time.

The grand jury's report indicated a personal antagonism between the foreman, Richard H. Lyall, and the superintendent of Mercer, Jean Burrows. That this antagonism existed was confirmed by Mrs. Burrows at Mr. Grossman's press conference.

'INSOLENT'

She said Mr. Lyall was rude and insolent during his two trips to Mercer to inspect conditions there.

Said Mr. Grossman of Mr. Lyall's behavior: "I don't think he should have asked (Mrs. Burrows) to have a lesbian pointed out to him."

In his report, Mr. Lyall wrote that he asked Mrs. Burrows whether there were any lesbians in Mercer, and she, without hesitation, pointed to one of the inmates working in the kitchen.

Tories Ask Withdrawal of 'Leper' Slight

LONDON (CP)—A Conservative backbencher urged Prime Minister Harold Wilson Thursday to do what he termed the decent thing and withdraw his "parliamentary leper" reference to Peter Griffiths, new Tory member for Smethwick.

Herbert Bowden, government leader in the House of Commons, replied that if the official opposition wanted a debate on the question, time might be found. He didn't say when.

Meanwhile the number of Tory backbenchers supporting a motion censuring Wilson for his Tuesday statement grew to 58 while a rival motion was presented by four Labor MPs. The latter double-edged motion expressed regret at the prime minister's action in describing Griffiths as a parliamentary leper "thus casting a cruel and unwarranted slight on lepers."

The furor arose Tuesday when Wilson called on Sir Alec

Douglas-Horne and other Tory leaders to disassociate themselves from Griffiths because he allegedly used racial tactics in a high immigration constituency to defeat Patrick Gordon Walker, now foreign secretary, in the Oct. 15 general election.

Britons Wonder

Shaky Stocks Await Budget

LONDON (CP)—Britain's Labor government will unveil its first budget next Wednesday and the powerful financiers of London are beginning to worry. Stocks are sagging as investors wonder what the budget will disclose.

Various reports indicate that Britons, now among the most heavily taxed in the Western alliance, may be in for an added tax load or higher contributions for social security.

AXE TO FALL

One newspaper suggests higher corporation and capital gains taxes are inevitable.

Another suggests the axe will fall on allowable expense ac-

NEEDS MONEY

The inevitable conclusion is that the Labor regime, planning to boost old-age pensions and other social benefits, needs more money. It also needs parliamentary approval of its temporary import tariffs imposed to narrow a trade gap and curb the drain on Britain's official gold holdings.

Confidence Votes Face Labor

LONDON (UPI)—The opposition Conservative party Thursday put down its first two non-confidence motions against the new Labor party government.

Both were to be debated Monday and Tuesday.

If passed, the government would fall after only three weeks in office.

But Prime Minister Wilson was said to be confident his five-seat majority in the 630-seat House of Commons, slim as it was, would be enough to enable him to defeat the first two attempts to bring down his government.

Both motions attacked the government's program, as outlined in the throne speech delivery last Tuesday.

Let's Top It

A WEEK OR SO AGO United Appeal officials were confident that the Greater Victoria campaign this year would not only attain its goal of $410,000 but would top it.

Today they are a little less optimistic—but they still have not given up hope.

On the gloomy side it can be recorded that as of last night the fund stood at approximately $340,000—some $70,000 short of its objective. On the bright side, however, it can also be noted that the majority of divisions have not yet made their final reports.

It is more than possible that the final tally of many of these groups will result in reducing this apparent deficit by a considerable amount. But even by applying the most generous calculation of what monies may reasonably be expected to come in, it now seems doubtful that the full amount needed will be reached.

In order to make up what might conceivably be a serious shortfall in the funds so urgently required by the 24 Greater Victoria agencies to continue their vital work in our community, collection booths have now been set up in Victoria's major department stores and in the main branches of all city banks. Later this week radio station CJVI will also reopen its booth at the corner of Douglas and Yates.

These United Appeal collection points will provide Greater Victoria residents with the opportunity of catching up on their personal donations if they happened to have been out when the canvasser called at their homes, or adding a little more to what they have already given. Each of the booths will be fully staffed and receipts will be issued if requested.

For Greater Victorians who are not able to get to town but wish to contribute, donations may be sent by mail to United Appeal Headquarters, 1951 Cook Street, Victoria.

The Colonist urges all citizens of our community to get behind the Community Chest for this last big push.

Let's put a red feather in our cap this year by going over the top.

Where He Belongs

SOME INTRIGUING developments are being projected in news dispatches from Ottawa, with speculation rife as to what they may involve. There is the forced admission by Mr. Paul Martin for instance that the Secord leader, Mr. Robert Thompson, is now on a government mission to Ethiopia, not usually the kind of assignment given to opposition members, and the inevitable wonder if this means he will turn up next in the Liberal cabinet.

Not so long ago it was deployed that the Liberals had secretly been wooing the NDP chieftain, Mr. Tommy Douglas, with perhaps the same aim in mind. Straws in the wind are always titillating even if the guesses don't always turn out to be right.

Of similar nature although not embracing a switch of party favor is the acknowledgment by Mr. E. Davie Fulton that he is being pressed to return to the federal political scene. Here also speculation is afloat, viewing such a move as a possible challenge for the Conservative leadership.

Conclusion of this nature is natural, since Mr. John Diefenbaker is touching 70 years and his party in the normal course of such things must look ahead to its future. This is not to say he is about to retire next week, however.

But what would be not only interesting but to the weal of his party and of the country as a whole would be to see Mr. Fulton back once more in the federal House. While his value to the provincial Conservative cause is undoubted, in a sense he is wasting his talents in this role—compounded by lack of a seat in the local legislature.

The Conservatives at Ottawa badly need not only his personal lustre but the strength he would add to their ranks. The Commons itself would be the gainer, for he is a national figure of parliamentary skill and experience whose ability would be an asset to the present federal scene.

Of all the speculations currently being bandied by the Ottawa pundits, therefore, this is the one that has the most significance. The Commons in fact is where Mr. Fulton really belongs.

Election Reforms

CHANGES FOR THE better in Canada's election proceedings are in sight in two respects. There is a third possible improvement that warrants attention.

Already under debate in the House of Commons as to detail, though acceptable to all parties in principle, is a measure providing for the redrawing of constituency boundaries by non-partisan commissioners instead of a parliamentary committee dominated by the party in power, and for a closer relationship between the electoral map and representation by population. This proposal is travelling a bumpy road in the House because of disagreement about the method of appointing commissioners and about the latitude to be allowed on either side of a set number of voters for each riding, but a generally satisfactory outcome is to be anticipated.

The second change contemplated is the limitation of campaign expenditures. To this end the government has appointed a five-man committee to study and report on "desirable and practical" ways of keeping candidates' election costs within reasonable bounds. The unanimity with which this move was welcomed in the Commons, as a step toward following more faithfully Canada's democratic ideals by trimming down the political advantage of party and personal wealth, is a portent of ready approval if as the result of the study legislation is introduced that bears promise of being effective. Mr. Diefenbaker, it is to be noted, saw "a great danger that democracy faces, namely that Parliament shall be a place for those who are able to supply the necessary funds." Mr. Douglas commended moving toward a system "in which members will be elected . . . on the basis of their merit and not on the basis of the gimmicks they can afford at election time."

But while the election-expense committee is carrying out its inquiries, the time would be appropriate to consider means of altering one more aspect of the national voting. What Mr. Goldwater said of the U.S. campaigns—"They ought to be like the British elections. If you can't get your point across in four weeks, you ought to give it up"—is true in Canada too, with modern transportation and communication. A briefer drive to the finish line would be less costly, less tiring to candidate and voter alike, and just as informative. A month ought to be plenty.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and sailing seas . . ."

By TOM TAYLOR

It was reassuring to learn that during the last-minute clean-up before the City Hall's new wing was opened on Wednesday workmen found among the litter that emblem of good fortune—a horseshoe.

All is therefore well. Superstition? Of course. Breaths there a man, as the poet didn't say, who doesn't bow before the intangibles that may govern his fate.

Who doesn't avoid walking under a painter's ladder, and not because he's feared paint will drop on him; who doesn't pat his head and say "touch wood" when hoping his current well-being will continue; who doesn't refuse the third light on a match.

Or throw more salt over his shoulder, the left one, when he's spilled some, or any other obeisance to good luck.

And top of the bill, of ancient heritage, is the horseshoe.

Maybe, for all I know, Mr. Johnson has one and Mr. Goldwater hasn't.

I understand anyway that former president Harry Truman put up a horseshoe over the entrance to his White House office, and Lord Nelson nailed one to the mast of the Victory.

That's a fairly good twin precedent for City Hall. I hope the mayor hangs this new-found lucky omen on his office wall, or suitably mounted to suit the decor, has it displayed on his desk. There's no need to tempt fate unduly, after all, and refuse a good thing when it's staring you in the face.

Mind you, I believe there's a right and a wrong way to hang up the horseshoe, and if the one you have on your front door isn't attuned to it, you'd better rearrange it.

For the best effect, to keep the luck from falling out—which seems logical—the prongs should be pointed upwards and the loop downwards. This is how Mr. Truman fixed his and presumably Lord Nelson must have done so too. Otherwise how did he win so many victories?

Actually, my deep researches tell me, it's the devil who is responsible for this potent charm although not of course by his own design. His intentions are never favorable.

You probably know the story, but I dare say there's no harm in repeating it. If the devil is letting it may make him squirm all over again.

It was in an unwise moment that he chose to ask St. Dunstan, who as well as being an archbishop was something of an anti-evil blacksmith, to shoe his single hoof. The saint spotted who he was, tied him tightly to the wall, and then gave him the works.

That is, he drove the nails so deep the devil roared for mercy. This he was accorded, but only after he agreed to stay away from any place where a horseshoe was displayed.

So there you are, and we don't want him hanging around the City Hall up to his tricks. There are enough of these, man-made ones, to trouble our civic fathers in their new legislative session.

Play it safe; that's what I say, and keep the devil at his distance.

And so should every good impenetrable-blooded man. I suppose too that if you carried a horseshoe in your pocket, right side up, you could then walk under ladders, spit salt, break mirrors, et al, without a single qualm.

I think I should get one myself. In fact, if the city fathers don't want the charm that's fallen into their collective lap, I'll be glad of it.

But if they've thrown it away, alas, I'm afraid they'll rue the day.

Today In History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The first federal Parliament assembled in Ottawa 97 years ago today—in 1867—the year of Confederation. The British North America Act of that year, establishing the Dominion, provided that there "shall be one parliament for Canada, consisting of the Queen, the Upper House, styled the Senate, and the House of Commons." In this composition, the Crown descends by heredity, subject to the Act of Settlement of 1701 and other successions of the Crown acts, both Canadian and Imperial.

1879—Thanksgiving Day was first observed in Canada.

First World War: Fifty years ago today—in 1914—advance troops of the Indian Expeditionary Force landed in Mesopotamia; Austro-German troops retreated in Galicia and East Prussia; a Turkish warship bombarded the Russian Black Sea port of Batumi.

Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today—in 1939—the French reported that nine German planes had been shot down in an air battle; Premier Molotov of Russia attacked "capitalist" Britain, France and the U.S. when outlining a peace policy; a British Admiralty spokesman claimed that the German U-boat menace was "fairly mastered."

A Power To Be Reckoned With

France Compels Attention

By HOWARD GREEN

Former Secretary of State for External Affairs

FRANCE continues to surprise us. Within the last few days she has threatened to leave the European Common Market if certain agricultural policies are not adopted by the six nation members. Also we read of rumors that she may withdraw from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Meanwhile, an important trade agreement has been negotiated with the Soviet Union and she has come out in favor of admitting Red China to the United Nations. In short she seems to be getting along much better than her big Western allies with both the Russians and Chinese.

For Viet Nam, part of the old French Indo-China, she now advocates neutrality which is in direct conflict with the United States policy for the area.

In Latin America President de Gaulle has recently concluded an extensive tour of various countries during which he received a very warm welcome and obviously made many friends for his beloved country. As a fellow-Latin he could naturally meet the leaders in South America on an intimate basis.

For too long people have been inclined to sneer at the strong-minded French president; to accuse him of thinking only of promoting the grandeur of his country—as if that objective were a sin!

In fact this French leader—now the senior among leaders of the big powers—has great accomplishments to his credit. Probably the greatest was throwing the former French colonies in Africa and doing so in such a way that most of them chose to remain in the French community which resembles our own Commonwealth.

True he did not succeed to this extent in Algeria but there he extracted large French forces and put a stop to fighting which was steadily draining away French blood and treasure. At one time nearly every French family had a son serving in Algeria. And in spite of all the blood that was spilled Algeria appears to be still on friendly terms with France.

At home he has brought order out of what was very near chaos; not only in the French parliament but also in industry, business and labor circles. He has put fresh heart in his people and has completely restored their confidence in their own nation. These results have been attained in a remarkably short space of time.

Some critics think that when President de Gaulle passes from the scene France will rapidly slip back into confusion. I doubt this for she is building up great strength not only economically but also in national character which is much more important.

In any event France is now a great power to be reckoned with. She cannot be ignored or brushed aside and consideration must be given to her suggestions.

President de Gaulle does not believe in a world dominated by two super-powers—the United States and the Soviet Union.

He visualizes his country as helpless in such a world and at the mercy of one or both of these super-powers—a position which he intends to avoid at all costs.

This runs counter to the prevailing belief that all nations are completely interdependent and that none should try to stand on its own feet. France obviously has reservations about a policy of this sort and she may be right.

She has centuries of experience in world affairs behind her and a reputation for looking through to the heart of a question with a logical approach which can be disconcerting to those of a different opinion. Our representatives have encountered this approach on more than one occasion at United Nations and NATO meetings.

Canadians should attempt to understand and appreciate France. Not only is she one of our mother-countries but several hundred thousand Canadians have served in France in time of war and realize very clearly the punishment she took in both world wars and the courage shown by her people.

We may not agree with all the policies she adopts; in fact in some cases she has been very difficult, for example at the United Nations and in NATO. But one thing certain is that France does not intend to be a satellite—and there are far too many satellites in the world today.

The time has come for more nations—including Canada—to have their own views on questions and to express such views frankly. Only in this way can there be a true understanding of the beliefs of a nation—and a firm basis for working out agreements. Some may argue that action of this kind would weaken the Western alliance but in my view the result would be to strengthen the bonds between member nations.

Turkish Dam

Aswan Again?

By a Special OFNS
Correspondent from Ankara

THE bitter East-West rivalry over the building of Egypt's mammoth Aswan Dam is repeating itself in Turkey where a vast dam on the Euphrates is projected. In Egypt the Soviet Union stepped in with finance and experts when John Foster Dulles, United States secretary of state, withdrew support after underwriting the scheme. An early consequence of America's action was Nasser's decision to nationalize the Suez Canal in 1956.

Washington looks like missing the boat again—with Russia reaping the advantage—in connection with the Turkish plan. This is to be carried out at a cost of $350,000,000 at Keban in East Turkey, where the two branches of the Euphrates converge.

Representatives of seven OECD countries (Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development), the International Bank and the European Investment Bank, met in Ankara at the end of September, to consider how to finance it. They included Britain and the United States. None committed themselves to putting down any money at this stage, and the United States delegates asked that further "economic feasibility" studies should be carried out by a team of U.S. experts before anything more was done.

The Turks consider the Keban project of vital importance to their economic development, and want it to start as soon as possible. They were clearly disappointed at the negative result of the meeting, especially at the attitude of the United States. Why did the Western nations hesitate to help an ally? The reason was less the "economic feasibility" of the project, which by now is clearly established, than problems which might arise later between Turkey, Syria and Iraq on the use of the Euphrates waters.

The Euphrates and Tigris both rise in Turkey, and flow southwards to the Persian Gulf. The Euphrates passes through Syria and Iraq.

These two countries, whose relations with Turkey have at times been clouded, are concerned that the Turks should be building so vast a dam on the upper reaches of the river. Both countries consist of large tracts of desert, and depend on the Euphrates for irrigation.

An Syrians are themselves building an irrigation dam on the Euphrates at Tabqa, largely financed by West Germany, its size, height and other specifications would have to be altered to accord with the Turkish plan.

On the other hand the Turks argue that the Keban barrage, by regulating the waters of the Euphrates, would not harm Syria and Iraq, but would benefit them, and that the regulation of the river's flow would mean less expenditure by the Syrians on their own dam.

Up to a point the Syrians and Iraqis are satisfied with these arguments. But they are worried by reports that the Turks may build further dams, lower down the Euphrates than Keban, which will be used for irrigation, and these would affect the volume of the Euphrates waters.

The United States and other Western nations taking part in the Ankara talks, feel that a tripartite agreement between Turkey, Syria and Iraq about the use of the Euphrates water is necessary before work on construction of the Keban dam starts, and that this agreement should precede any financial commitments.

This is where the Russians come in. They are rumored to have offered to finance the whole cost of the Keban project on very favorable conditions.

Teachers' Pay

As quoted in your columns, the words of Mrs. A. B. Thompson, chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board, should surely point out the depths of inexcusable degradation into which teachers have sunk. "Teachers are always asking for money—they never ask us for anything for the children—they seem engrossed in the material things in life."

Such an expression of righteous and timely indignation at the gross materialism of our grossly overpaid and pleasure seeking teachers, is to be commended. We, the public, must deeply regret the fact that Mrs. A. B. Thompson herself never entered the teaching profession. What a noble and unselfish image she would have been to the rest of her materialistic colleagues.

It is ardently to be hoped, however, that all teachers will humbly hearken to her words of selfless devotion, and strike their breasts in a gesture of true repentance. Let us all hope that teachers reform. May they never again seek materialistic gain for their services. Should they continue to do so, let them remember that their conduct can only reduce them to the materialistic level of doctors, dentists, lawyers, politicians, business men and the public at large.

MEA MAXIMA CULPA.

New Design

After reading the latest news on the "flag issue," I have an impulse to make a flag suggestion myself.

While the two party leaders squabble over the problem, I think the whole thing should be scrapped.

Then introduce a resolution on these lines:

A flag of a medium blue ground (meaning the sea or the sky). We are all at sea over this matter!

Then place a white cross in diagonal over the background. That is to say X marks the spot—referring, of course, to our country. After the BNA Act is scrapped there will be no Canada.

On this, superimpose exactly in the middle a Red Maple Leaf—typical of our dying heritage.

Above that set a brown beaver (who has been busy gnawing away at wood for centuries, especially in our Quebec forests). The beaver is noted for his patience and tenacity of purpose, and that surely typifies our English heritage as well as our French.

In closing, I would say, let's rally round and stop squabbling like a bunch of children. To those of us who were born in this country, as the song says, "I call it home," and I for one wouldn't live anywhere else.

Smooth at Last

Let me tell you about an exciting experience.

But first you should know that we bought property off the Otter Point Road some seven years ago, and have been building a house on it over this period. We have tranquility here, which surely must gladden the soul.

True, our jaws did drop a notch when we turned off the Sooke Highway onto the Otter Point Road. Gad! but it was grim, dust and potholes, like turning the clocks back 30 years. "Oh well, it can't be for much longer, these roads went out with the model T." But, by Jiminy, it DID go on, and on, and on, through the years.

But methinks, Mr. Editor, we should really be more charitable. (I blush to think of some of the horrible thoughts I had, bumping over these multitudinous potholes.) No doubt there are reasons we do not know, and I'm sure Mr. Gagliardi is a very understanding man who is doing the best he can.

At any rate Mr. Editor, get back to the initial exuberance, guess what? The grades has, well, words cannot tell! There is not a highway on the continent so sweet to drive over.

I just purr for these miles. Don't know who makes the decisions on this road, but whoever you are, thanks so very much for this latter life-upper.

G. F. HOWARD,

Like the Caribou, the Harp Seal

Disastrous Downward Spiral

By RICHARD FITTER from London

NORTH AMERICA has a bad record for the extinction of its native fauna by human agency.

In the past 200 years more than a score of mammals and some half-dozen birds, headed by the passenger pigeon, have gone, and the bison was only saved in the nick of time.

Now conservationists are looking anxiously at the caribou and the harp seal.

Like the passenger pigeon and the bison, both once existed in their millions—so sheer numbers are no warranty against extinction.

Indeed, it may be harder for a highly gregarious animal to build up again from small numbers.

The story of the caribou is told in the current issue of Oryx, journal of the Fauna Preservation Society, by John P. Kelsall, of the Canadian Wildlife Service.

In primitive times there were probably two or three million caribou on the North American mainland, and the 30,000 Eskimo depended on them for their food, clothing and bedding.

Some 40 years ago, the Canadian government became alarmed at the excessive slaughter of caribou by fur traders, who killed hundreds simply to provide bait for their trapping operations.

Firearms enabled Indians and Eskimos, long accustomed to the bow and arrow, to shoot caribou until their ammunition ran out. But few imagined that the teeming millions could not stand the strain.

In 1949, the Canadian Wildlife Service came up with an estimate that only 672,000 caribou were left. The Canadian government took the findings seriously enough to provide more funds and facilities for research, which, in 1955, showed that the caribou were actually down to 278,000—barely 10 per cent of their former numbers.

Various factors seem to have been responsible for this steep decline: forest fires destroying winter range faster than it could regenerate, unexpectedly abundant wolves, and an inadequate calf crop reduced by severe weather at critical periods of the young calves' development.

There is no doubt, however, that the last straw was excessive killing by man.

Steps are being taken now to reduce caribou hunting; shooting for sport is forbidden and so is the use of caribou meat to feed dog teams. But the decline has been so rapid that Kelsall fears that the outcome of the fight to save the caribou as a key natural resource of northernmost Canada is still in doubt. The harp seal of the Gulf of St. Lawrence has entered on the same disastrous downward spiral as a result of sheer greed for quick money. Between 1950-51 and 1960-1961 the population fell from about 3,000,000 to about 1,250,000, entirely as a result of excessive hunting.

In the spring of 1964 greater onslaughts than ever were made on the fast-diminishing herds, including attacks by helicopter.

The international body which looks after the Northwest Atlantic fisheries has been asked to fix quotas in an attempt to save the harp seal from complete extermination in North America, but until now massive red tape has prevented any action.

Russia Can't Pay China's Price for Peace

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
A world Communist meeting—with Red China attending—is a probability in the near future. But an attempt to heal the split in the global revolutionary movement seems headed for failure.

The new Soviet regime in all likelihood will be unwilling and unable to pay Peking's high price for peace.

Nikita Khrushchev's scalp was only the first installment of the Chinese demand for muzzling Communism's internal warfare.

Khrushchev's successors—party chief Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin—seem anxious to mute the noisy criticism from Red China and its allies. But if they are going to get anywhere, they must eventually show a tougher policy toward the United States and even risk new tensions.

This would be difficult. It is doubtful the new regime wants to alarm the Soviet people with a prospect of a turn backward toward Stalinism. It does not want to alarm the European Communist satellites, which have had a faint taste of independence. It does not want to alarm West European Communists, whose only prospects for gains lie in lulling the opposition.

Khrushchev's successors claim to support his policies of peaceful co-existence and higher living standards at home. At the same time they claim to stand for restoring world Communist unity.

Brezhnev and Kosygin can not have all these things. The best they can hope for is a lull in the wordy battle with Peking. A lull is in effect now.

Reactions to the Soviet upheaval from Red China's allies—parties like the Albanian, Japanese, Indonesian and others—indicate there is an exorbitant price on world communist unity. They seem to want:

- A more thorough Soviet housecleaning to oust all "modern revisionists," a term the Chinese applied to Khrushchev.

- Abrogation of the limited nuclear test ban treaty, which the USSR still seems to value. Instead, the Chinese want an enormous propaganda drive keyed to total destruction of all nuclear weapons. This could be a cloak behind which Red China might build more nuclear weapon effectiveness.

- Scuttling of the Soviet party's relationship with Tito of Yugoslavia, whom the Red Chinese still call a "modern revisionist."

- Reshaping of Soviet economic aid policy. This would mean more help to China and more help to Communist parties, less help to such countries as India and Egypt.

- Unconditional Soviet support of all revolutionary movements, regardless of risk.

- Abandonment of the notion that the Soviet party, as the leader and model for all Communist parties, has the right to dictate the course of Communist revolution everywhere.

- Above all, the Chinese will want a more warlike brand of peaceful co-existence, which would single out the United States as the main enemy of all Communists. This means ers turned the tables on Khrushchev the socialists, is the latest convert to the Italian view.

Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia are visibly paying more heed to their national self-interests—in matters of trade, economic and cultural policies—and less to the voice of Moscow.

It would be surprising if Leonid Brezhnev and Alexei Kosygin—Russia's new leaders—did not try to arrest the progressive slide of Soviet influence.

But the trouble is that Khrushchev dismantled the apparatus of terror and armed force which formerly held foreign comrades in bondage to Moscow. And the Soviets have found no substitute instrument of persuasion.

In the tide of nationalism

Moscow Line No Longer Law

Umbilical Cord Broken

By ERNEST CONINE

Russia's new rulers are encountering the same fact of life which plagued Khrushchev before them: The international Communist movement is no longer a pliable tool of Soviet interests.

The bolder Communist parties, both in Western Europe and among the "Satellites" of Eastern Europe, have long since put the Kremlin on notice that the old days of blind obedience are over.

Now, with studied coolness toward the new Soviet regime, and ostentatious distaste for its smear-Khrushchev campaign, the defiant ones are making sure the new leaders in the Kremlin get the point.

Reactions of foreign Communists to Khrushchev's ouster are striking evidence of the momentum—and for the Soviets, disturbing—changes which have occurred in the world Communist movement during the last decade.

When Khrushchev launched his "destalinization" campaign a few years ago, statues of the dead dictator were dutifully pulled down by the still obedient satellites in Eastern Europe. Communist parties all over the world slavishly parroted the Moscow account of Stalin's excesses.

But when Russia's new lead-

Rise of Nationalism Ends Russia's Grip

Communist leaders are notoriously unsentimental. No one knows better than the men in the Kremlin that human concern for Khrushchev's fate is decidedly a secondary motive in the flare-up of support for the former leader.

The implications, from Moscow's viewpoint, must be far more unsettling.

The resolute parties, which include some of the most influential in the world Communist movement, have tasted independence and they want more of it, not less. They are effectively serving notice that any attempt to reassert Moscow's iron grip will be stubbornly resisted.

The continuing erosion of Soviet authority threatens to open the door to rising western influence among the "satellites."

There may be precious little that Moscow can do about it. The Soviet already has ample reason to fear the trend toward "national communism"—that is, communism keyed to the national interests of the individual parties.

Romania, by refusing to accept Soviet-dictated economic plans, sabotaged the Khrushchev dream of an integrated, Moscow-oriented Communist common market.

The big Communist party of Italy, anxious to remove the old stigma of Soviet domination, vociferously preaches the notion that each party must be free to chart its own path to communism.

The French party, in quest of a co-operative arrangement with which is rising in eastern Europe, long repressed feelings of hostility and contempt toward everything Russian are coming to the surface—even among dedicated Communists.

Also, there is intriguing evidence the erstwhile "satellites," and the big Communist parties in Western Europe, are having a major impact on internal Soviet policy.

This showed up in 1963, when blunt criticism from the Italian party reportedly played a major role in the Kremlin decision to soften a crackdown on Soviet artists and writers.

More recently, the Strongly voiced displeasure of French Communists influenced the Soviets to cease publication of a violently anti-Semitic book in the Ukraine.

Thus, in a sense, Communist parties outside Russia are coming to play for the Soviets the functional role of criticism which public opinion, and the "loyal opposition," play in democratic societies.

The Kremlin is probably not ready to accept this kind of relationship as the basis for a new unity within the bloc.

But in the long run, the tides of history suggest it may not be able to do anything else.

BACKGROUND

Leftists May Hold Key To Wilson's Policies

By ROBERT BETTS, from London

"Vote Labor and get Britain moving," urged Harold Wilson before he became prime minister.

He meant forward, of course. Conservatives are more concerned, however, about the movement leftward—especially in foreign affairs and defense.

Wilson says his party will work for world peace through support of the Western alliance. But how much support can he rely on from the party's extreme left-wing faction?

Hardly noticed among the Labor Party members returned to parliament recently were some 36 anti-nuclear fanatics. They were inconspicuous as such because Labor kept the emphasis off the unpleasant nuclear subject during its campaign. It concentrated on more homely matters like pensions, wages, housing, education, where it felt it was on firmer ground.

No reference was made to the serious split in the Labor Party over nuclear disarmament, which the late Labor leader Hugh Gaitskell spent the last exhausting year of his life trying to repair.

The crack has merely been papered over. A semblance of party unity was achieved on a compromise, which remains precarious. Labor right-wingers agreed to stop supporting the Conservative Party policy of keeping Britain's bomb if the leftwing "ban the bomb" group agreed to curb their anti-Americanism and go along with support of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It was Wilson who led the leftist rebels against moderate Gaitskell. When he took over party leadership following Gaitskell's death, he said he would concentrate on maintaining party unity.

He resigned from the cabinet of the last Labor government to protest Britain's increased defence spending for the Korean war.

Wilson may, as some believe, have moved further to the right as the Labor Party neared power. His choice of George Brown as his first secretary of state strengthens the semblance of party unity. After Gaitskell's death it was Brown, a supporter of the independent deterrent, who led the right-wingers against the rebel leftists led by Wilson.

Having kept themselves in check these past months for the sake of "party unity," however, the radical leftists may be expected to become more vociferous now the party is in power.

Their demands are more likely to be on foreign than domestic policies, and Wilson, needing all the support he can get to maintain the government's narrow majority, may have to make concessions. Once made, more demands could follow, such as closing of the U.S. Polaris bases.

Wilson already has shown his obligation to the leftists in his cabinet appointments. The biggest "reward" is to Frank Cousins, who heads the new ministry of technology. This forceful ex-truck driver was the No. 1 "ban the bomber" in the powerful trade union movement which brought the Labor Party to heel over unilateral nuclear disarmament.

It is in the arrogant hard core of leftists occupying the government benches in the House of Commons, however, that may give Wilson his biggest headache. Unable to resist their demands without losing their valuable votes, he may be forced into policies which neither he, nor any other sane person in Britain, desires.

Optimist Auction To Aid Boys

The Victoria Optimist Club is planning a huge auction and rummage sale and has been given the temporary use of the old Healey building in Bastion Square.

The city-owned building will be used by the club during November to accumulate material which will be sold. Money from the sale will be used for the club's boys' work campaign.

Ships Asked to Keep Watch For Cable, Drifting Nets

Mariners are requested to reduce speed and exercise extra caution in the Piers Island, Knapp Island area of Swartz Bay until Saturday afternoon.

Work began Thursday morning on the B.C. Telephone cable from a flat barge and pilot vessel located midway between the two islands.

A warning has also been issued that fishing vessels using drift nets may be encountered in the Strait of Juan de Fuca from 6 p.m. Sunday to 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Drift nets are about 300 fathoms long and are attached at one end to the operating vessel. A white light is shown at the free end.

Because of the concentration of fishing vessels and the difficulties of sighting the net, vessels approaching Victoria from seaward are advised to keep to the centre of the strait.

For Dockyard

First Stage Planned In Sewage Project

First stage of a proposed sewage works to serve HMC Dockyard will be designed by Associated Engineering Services of Victoria and Vancouver.

"This is the first stage in solving the pollution problem in this area," said John Priestman, Victoria manager of the engineering firm. "The federal government is giving the lead."

OTTAWA ORDER
Order for the design came from the government's Defence Construction Limited.

Victoria Liberal MP David Gross said the government hopes to get the project in the supplementary estimates for this fiscal year. Construction will probably start next year, he said, "and I imagine it will be given some priority."

OYSTER SALE
Sale of oysters grown in Esquimalt Harbor has been banned by health officials of the B.C. and federal governments. Those grown in Sooke beds had to be purified in clean water for at least two weeks before being sold to the public.

Plans for other areas of Esquimalt Harbor will involve co-operation with Esquimalt and will probably be delayed until an overall sewage system is planned, Mr. Priestman said.

Commercial Grounds

Springs Leading Fishing Returns

Spring salmon landings in Victoria, Vancouver and Steveston for the week ending Oct. 31 amounted to 40,000 pounds, well ahead of the previous week and the same week a year ago.

Coho and chum landings dropped sharply from the previous week.

Groundfish landings totalled 341,000 pounds compared to 116,000 pounds a year earlier.

Grey cod made up more than half the total.

In Prince Rupert groundfish landings were featured by good quantities of black cod and mink feed.

Herring fishermen delivered 1,068 tons of herring up from 338 tons the previous week but at the same level as a year earlier.

Crab deliveries improved over the previous week and the comparable week in 1963.

Sooke School Area To Vote Saturday

Sooke school district taxpayers will go to the polls Saturday to vote on a $1,500,000 school building referendum.

The three-year program will see two new schools built and rooms added to several others.

Voting is from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. in all Sooke district elementary schools, plus the Shirley Community Hall and the old East Sooke school on East Sooke Road.

FOUR CLASSROOMS
Included in the $1,478,387 plan is a new junior secondary school at Painter Road.

This school will have four classrooms, a half-size gymnasium and rooms for home economics, science, commerce, library and industrial arts. A six-room school will be built at Atkins Road.

SCIENCE AND COMMERCE
Belmont High School will have two industrial arts buildings plus a science room and commerce room.

Rooms are to be added at Edward Milne, Colwood, Elizabeth Fisher, Glen Lake, Millstream and Saseenos, Sangster, Sooke and Metchoan.

Inter-Racial Marriages Solution to Bitterness

TORONTO (CP) — Inter-racial marriages are the "only ultimate way" to solve bitterness among the world's different races, Rabbi Abraham Feinberg of Toronto said Wednesday night.

Rabbi Feinberg said that while he favors inter-racial marriages, inter-faith marriages "are a different matter."

POSITIVE VALUES

He said he will not usually officiate at marriages between Jews and non-Jews unless both parties agree to raise their children as followers of Judaism. His reason, he said, was that he wished to see the positive values of Judaism preserved and passed on to future generations.

However, Rabbi Feinberg said he may make exceptions where "premature pregnancy is involved."

ONLY SOLUTION

Dr. David Mace, former United States Methodist clergyman and now executive director of the American Association of Marriage Counsellors, told a different meeting Tuesday that inter-racial marriages were possibly the only solution to race rivalry.

But Irving Himmel, secretary of the Association for Civil Liberties, said Dr. Mace's solution was "an oversimplification."

MANY FACTORS

Barriers should not be raised to inter-marriages if the persons involved are properly suited, he said. But many factors comprise a successful marriage. Different racial origins do present a problem.

Mrs. Jean Daniels, president of the Canadian Anti-Apartheid Committee, said her group "would never fight for inter-marriage," but that "we would never condemn it."

Meeker Lives

Reprieve Angers Mission

MISSION, B.C. (CP)—Shock and bitterness has greeted the news that Kenneth Lloyd Meeker will not have to hang for the sex slaying of a 12-year-old local girl.

"I think they should have put him at the end of a rope and hired me for the hangman," Tom Mathers, father of the slain Alice Mathers, said Wednesday.

"I thought this thing was over with. It didn't occur to me that they might reprieve him."

SHOCK EXPRESSED

Shock was also expressed by the mayor and reeve of the neighboring communities of Mission City and Mission.

The federal cabinet announced Tuesday that Meeker, scheduled to hang next Tuesday, had his death sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

CAPITAL MURDER

He had been found guilty of capital murder in the strangulation of the girl in a gravel pit near here June 9, 1963. Meeker, 31, and his brother Lennard, 36, had abducted the girl. Lennard now is serving 10 years for sexual intercourse with a girl under 16.

Mayor Ethel Ogle of Mission City said in an interview that she had received telephone calls from district mothers who are disturbed by the cabinet decision.

CARRIED THROUGH

"It is a terrible thing to let a man off that easily," she said. "I think that the B.C. courts have made their ruling, and it should be carried through."

Reeve F. R. Hall of the district of Mission said:

"It's the most disgraceful thing that has happened in the history of British jurisprudence."

PUBLIC PROTEST

Mr. Mathers, who with a friend discovered the body of his daughter, said he has not the means to protest the reprieve but he thought the public would.

Mrs. W. J. Brydon, whose daughter used to play with the dead girl, said: "I would like to slit Meeker's ruddy throat."

PAROLE REVIEW

A John Howard Society official said a person whose sentence is commuted to life imprisonment is eligible for parole after 10 years from the date of arrest. There was no time off for good behavior. If a parole was rejected the parole board reviewed the case every two years.

Four Engines or No Go Airline Pilots Declare

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Air Line Pilots' Association says its members don't wish to fly four-engined aircraft on three engines. Aircraft with faulty motors are flown to a larger centre with only a minimum crew when repairs are needed and an airport has no facilities. The matter will be included in contract negotiations next September.

Reds Threaten Berlin Flights

BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet Union said Thursday its representatives in the Berlin air safety centre would not accept any flight plans on Western "international" flights to this isolated city. The Russians said they could therefore not be held responsible for the safety of Western planes flying to and from West Berlin on international routes. Singled out were the direct London-Berlin flight inaugurated last Sunday by British European Airways. The statement said such BEA daily flights were violating the air space over East Germany. The East Germans protested the establishment of this route but the first flight into Berlin and subsequent flights were made without incident.

WINS MEDALS

The U.S. has won 1,078 medals in the 14 summer Olympic Games, more than any other nation since their inception in modern times in 1896.

CUSTOM-MADE DRAPERIES AND UPHOLSTERY SALE!

YOUR DRAPERIES MADE FOR 1.00 PER WINDOW, REGARDLESS OF SIZE!

Your choice of Fabrics, from 1.50 per yd. and up! Wide selection to choose from!

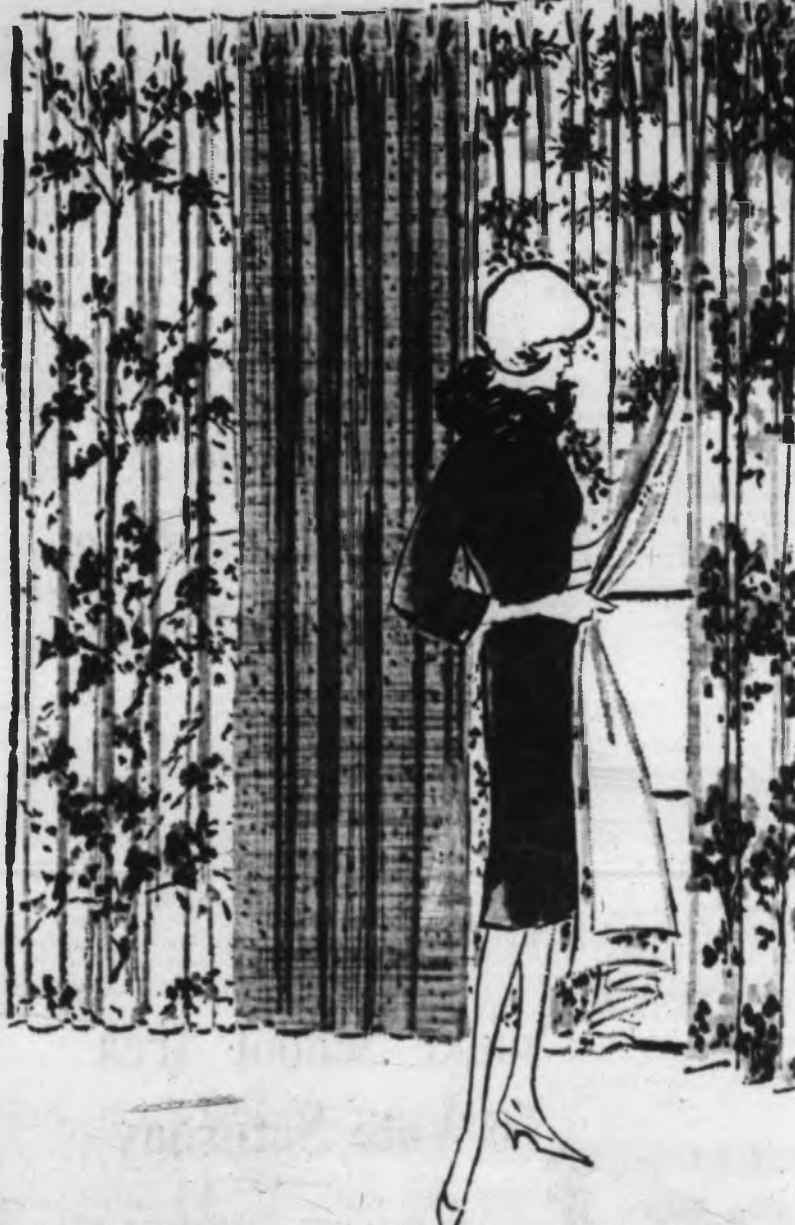

Now, have new draperies made for any room, for the cost of the fabric, plus 1.00 per window, regardless of its size. Select your fabric from antique satins, nubby weaves, boucles, and many more—in dozens of patterns and colours, for all decors. From 1.50 to 7.95 per yard.

How to Measure Your Windows:

1. Measure from top of rod to where draperies will fall (bottom of window moulding or floor). Add 1" to this measurement to cover drapery rod... make a written note of the figure just in case your memory tricks you. When the ceiling is low, a ceiling-to-floor installation is attractive.

2. Widths for draw are optional. You may want your draperies to cover the outside edge of the window frame, or the entire wall. If rods are not installed, measure the width of the area to be covered, add 10" for fullness of overlap. If rods are installed, measure distance between ends of rods and add 10".

Newspaper Advertising Stimulates Buying

Which Queen?

Queen Anne Chair, sir. Note the imprint of her ladyship's bottom.

And what on earth is this?

A bone once picked by Sir John A. Macdonald. Think of the impression you'll make when you wave it at your friends. If I may be so forward sir, you simply must have it.

Unusual. But have you something a bit more... useable? I'm not a conformist, but, I like the things I buy to be functional, as well as unique. Take my Studebaker. So functional, it's indispensable. Modern, yet it'll never be out of date.

How, Sir?

Studebaker has a look that stays fresh for years. So, should I ever want to trade in my Studey, I'll always get a top trade-in allowance. I've been burned too many times with cars built to become easily obsolete, built to lose trade-in value after they've been around for a year or two. I save money while I'm enjoying my Studey, too. Economical to operate; my repair bills are almost nil.

Indeed—a very unique car. Is that it parked outside?

Yes, a '65 Cruiser. (It's my fifth Studebaker.) And it's been especially designed for Canadian conditions; tested on every road, in every type of weather condition Canadian drivers are ever likely to be up against.

Then, what they say is true—it really is Canada's Own Car.

Exactly. Who wants to be a conformist. Come on out and take a look. I wouldn't want you to just take my word for it. Or anyone else's. Try Studebaker for yourself. (S)

Air Force General

Former Vice-President New Bolivian Strong Man

LA PAZ (AP)—Air force Gen. Rene Barrientos took over the presidency of Bolivia Thursday night after a bloody two-day uprising that overthrew the 12-year regime of Victor Paz Estenssoro.

Barrientos, vice-president under Paz, emerged as the apparent strong man of the new government after brief political infighting that initially produced a co-presidency.

He told a cheering crowd from a balcony of the national palace that Gen. Alfredo Obando Candia, earlier named as co-leader, "has decided to co-operate in the re-establishment of tranquility in the country."

The fast-shifting power play in the new regime came after the army appeared to have gained firm control of the capital Thursday following a night of rioting.

Fighting between soldiers and

supporters of Paz, who fled to Peru after being ousted Wednesday, left possibly 40 dead. About 150 were reported wounded.

Barrientos emerged as sole leader shortly after a crowd in front of the palace had booted an earlier proclamation elevating Obando, armed forces commander, to co-president.

Much of the rioting during the night was blamed on Bolivians celebrating the downfall of a president many called a dictator.

Thompson Seeking Canadians' Release

OTTAWA (CP)—One of the main reasons for the government sending Social Credit leader Robert Thompson to Africa for two weeks is to try to gain the release of 26 Canadians now being held by Congolese rebels.

External Affairs Minister Martin gave this explanation to the Commons Thursday, after the question of Mr. Thompson's trip had raised tempers in the House the day before.

Mr. Martin told the Commons there were several matters Mr. Thompson is dealing with in Africa, such as visiting the headquarters of the economic commission for Africa and the organization of African unity.

QUALIFIED

He said Mr. Thompson, who spent 15 years in Africa, knows many people there and he is "eminently qualified" to represent the government on this particular mission.

The minister disclosed that an official of his department is going to The Congo on a special mission to negotiate for the release of the Canadians among the 800 white captives, mostly missionaries and their families.

DANGEROUS

He said he could not give more details without threatening the success of the mission.

Mr. Martin said the rebel held captives were in a "very regrettable and dangerous position." Mr. Thompson knew some of the people involved and "certain contacts, I hope, can be made. "Because of the safety of these Canadians we are going to resort to every effort."

Thomson Lambasts Industry, Unions

LONDON (CP)—Lord Thomson raised a chorus of "hear, hear" in the House of Lords Thursday when he lambasted British industry and unions for outmoded ways.

The plain-spoken Toronto native said much of British business management fails to "measure up." Workers are underpaid and unions are guilty of feather-bedding. It was Lord Thomson's maiden speech in the Lords.

Humphrey's Chores May Begin Early

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson and Senator

Hubert H. Humphrey ended post-election talks Thursday with Humphreys indicating he may take on some vice-presidential chores before his inauguration.

Humphrey and his wife, Muriel, left by plane for Washington after a day and a night of victory celebrations and discussions with the president at Johnson's ranch near here.

During the day the President talked by telephone with State Secretary Dean Rusk on the general world situation, including the Bolivian crisis. Johnson also talked with Defence Secretary Robert McNamara.

The possibility that Humphrey might edge into the vice-presidency on an informal basis before the Jan. 20 inauguration was one implication that could be drawn from a statement he made before returning to Washington. He said he might resign his Senate seat soon.

And the White House said Humphrey will set up a vice-presidential office in the capital in advance of the inauguration.

Wiser's whiskies are older in virtually all cases.

Compare the age, plainly marked on each bottle of Wiser's whisky with any other brands in their price classes. You will find, on the average Wiser's whiskies are older. And "older" to Wiser's means aged in wood ... and "married" in wood — a process of returning the spirits to wood after final blending for a further period of quiet aging. So for the best whiskies, the best value — drink one that's OLDER and WISER'S.

For good values in well aged whiskies: Wiser's De Luxe, 10 years old; Wiser's 101, 6 years old; Wiser's Old Rye, 5 years old; Wiser's Special Blend, 4 years old.

Senator dances with Shirley

Late-Show Good Guy Voted Into Senate

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — By bucking the Democratic tide to win Pierre Salinger's U.S. Senate seat, George Murphy has provided a happy climax to a career as unlikely as some of his roles on the late, late show on television.

Murphy, who danced duets with Fred Astaire and played papa to Shirley Temple and Elizabeth Taylor, is the first movie actor to achieve so high a national office.

'PLENTY OF GOOD'

He didn't attempt to downplay his image as a good-guy, song-and-dance man. In fact, says he: "It did me plenty of good. People remembered me from the late, late show. Don't forget, I was always the good guy."

But Republican George's solid victory over Democrat Pierre in a race rated a toss-up indicates voters didn't accept the image at face value. Murphy is a successful business executive and veteran behind-the-scenes political figure.

SMOOTH CAMPAIGN

He ran a smooth, relentless campaign, based on advice from his father, Mike Murphy, who trained early Olympic teams. Counseled the elder Murphy: "Get off first, run a fast race, and never look behind."

George was born on Independence Day, 1902, in New Haven, Conn. As a youth he strove to follow his father's footsteps as a track star. In one meet he won the 100-yard dash, 220, 440, mile, broad jump and high hurdles.

Rockefeller 'Spoilsport'

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon charged Thursday that Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York State was the "principal divider" in Senator Barry Goldwater's campaign.

Nixon, who spent the last month campaigning across the country for Goldwater, said he found the people regarded Rockefeller as a spoilsport.

Congress Liberals Seek Key Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberals of both the Democratic and Republican parties, whose relative strength was increased in Tuesday's elections, are going to make a strong bid for more recognition for leadership positions in Congress, particularly in the House of Representatives.

Strengthened house liberals are calling for a party purge of southern Democratic congressmen who supported Republican Barry Goldwater.

"We say the main point is that they walked out of the party," said Representative John Blatnik (Dem., Minn.), leader of the liberal group that wants to run them out of the party.

"We do not feel that they have the right to return to our fold, with all the prerogatives and privileges and committee assignments of party membership," Blatnik said in a telephone interview from Duluth, Minn.

Heading the liberals' purge are Representatives John Bell

Williams (Dem. Miss.), and Albert W. Watson (Dem. S.C.), who openly supported Goldwater's presidential candidacy. Williams is second - ranking Democrat on the House commerce committee, a post he would lose in a purge.

Representative Richard Bolling (Dem. Mo.) another leader of the liberal group, said:

"It is not enough to have a majority on the floor of the House. We have got to get the material from the committees for that majority to work on."

Health care for the aged under social security was one of President Johnson's top priorities in the last session of Congress, but it was bottled up in the conservative-oriented House ways and means committee.

Some guests never get invited back!

This one will — if the floor is vinyl Corlon by Armstrong. Friendly, even to "careless" guests.

Corlon has an uncanny resistance to all household spills. Even worse than ice-cream.

And Corlon is accepted as the "permanent beauty" floor. The colours can't wear off because they go through to the backing.

"Corlon reduces our housework!" say housewives. Why? Because dust and dirt literally floats off its practical vinyl surface in the wake of a damp mop. And Corlon needs a minimum of waxing.

Seven Corlon stylings have exclusive, alkali resistant, Hydrocord backing and can be installed in any room, even in most downstairs playrooms, directly on the concrete.

Corlon gives a wall-to-wall effect because it comes in long rolls, 6 feet wide, and the few seams are virtually invisible.

Fine Will Earmark Pay

An unlucky Quebec soldier, now at the school of music at HMCS Naden, will get his pay Friday, Nov. 13, but will need at least $50 of it to pay a fine.

The apprentice bandman, Jean Claude Harvey, was remanded to Nov. 16 for sentence by Magistrate J. A. Byers when he appeared in city magistrate's court Thursday. Minimum fine under the B.C. Liquor Act for drinking in public is $50.

The fine, which must be paid immediately if it is imposed, will be levied after the soldier's pay-day.

day. A second charge, being a minor in possession of liquor, was dropped by prosecutor Peter Birkett when the youth pleaded guilty to the first charge.

The prosecutor said Harvey had been arrested when he was found drinking beer in a car parked on Broad Street Oct. 13.

Possession of liquor by 18-year-old sailor Lyle E. Harrington of HMCS Ottawa, resulted in a $20 fine. Police said he had been stopped with another youth shortly after the supper hour on Constance Street. He was found to be carrying a bottle of wine apparently purchased at the Johnson Street liquor store.

Kenneth Peniston, 19, of 2807 Nanaimo, pleaded guilty to a charge of taking a car without its owner's consent.

Const. Ian Campbell of the Victoria police told the court he and another policeman were investigating a report of scattered papers and office equipment early Thursday morning.

They found the papers belonged to a man who said his car had disappeared from in front of his home.

A short time later the youth was apprehended in the car.

He was remanded for a pre-sentence report when prosecutor Birkett told court no record of previous adult offences was being offered.

In Saanich magistrate's court Thursday, Donald J. Allen, 108 Dallas Road, pleaded guilty to indecent exposure.

Saanich Detective Ed Anderson told the court he had spoken to the accused about a complaint by two women in the 3700 block Savannah Avenue that a man had indecently exposed himself to them for about 10 minutes Oct. 27.

During the interview Allen also admitted exposing himself indecently to the same women for the same length of time four days earlier, said the detective.

Allen told Magistrate D. G. Ashby he had sought psychiatric treatment. He was remanded to Nov. 12 for a pre-sentence report.

In the same court, Raymond Leno, 728 Hillside, pleaded guilty to an impaired driving charge laid after an accident on the Trans-Canada Highway Oct. 16.

Defence counsel Jack Gatehouse asked the court to obtain a pre-sentence report on Leno before imposing sentence or determining him of his driver's licence.

Magistrate Ashby remanded the case for sentence to Nov. 12.

Being a minor in possession of liquor cost 18-year-old David Tribe, 4511 Pachena, a $30 fine.

He pleaded guilty to possessing liquor confiscated from a car on the Gordon Head campus of the University of Victoria Oct. 24. Four bottles of beer were taken from a car in front of the Students' Union Building shortly after midnight, said prosecutor Kenneth Murphy.

Driving into an intersection before traffic was clear cost Stewart Thompson of 545 Fernridge $35 Thursday.

A $700 accident Oct. 17 on the corner of Douglas and Bolekine was blamed partly on Thompson and partly on the second driver, whose car met Thompson's in the intersection.

The second car was about 15 feet into the intersection when the lights began to change. He decided to go through. Thompson told police he had failed to see the car because he was looking in the rear-view mirror.

Three beers, five drinks of rye, a .18 per cent blood alcohol reading and a $1,200 car accident culminated in a $300 fine Thursday in city magistrate's court.

The fine was ordered by Magistrate Byers against Arthur D. McLellan, 3150 Paradise, on a charge of impaired driving.

Mechanic Hung Up Under Car

A mechanic inspecting the rear end of a car on a boat Wednesday night hung under the car for six minutes after his clothing was tangled around the drive shaft.

Donald Ross, 45, of 1038 Island Highway, was working at Taxco Service, Burnside and Harriet, checking for a noise in the rear end. The car's engine was running and it was in gear.

He was cut down by Emilie Dargos, 3025 Earl Grey, and Alex Ryono, 1128 Wychbury.

Big Problem Outside Quebec

TORONTO (CP)—The most difficult problem facing Confederation is probably the status of French-Canadian minorities outside Quebec. David Fulton, British Columbia Progressive Conservative leader, said Thursday.

The former federal justice minister said in a speech to the Empire Club that the French-Canadian going from Quebec to another part of Canada will find little or no opportunity outside the home for his family to be exposed, even minimally, to French-Canadian language, culture or history.

"We in English Canada cannot continue to complain that French-speaking people in Quebec are not behaving like broad-minded, total Canadians; we cannot continue to tell them in one breath that they ought not to be so isolated, so parochial, so provincial, if in the next breath we try to tell them to establish a ghetto for themselves in Quebec.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

STAND UP: B.C. Soccer Referees' Association has demanded that police protection be provided in future at all Pacific Coast Soccer League matches played at Callister Park in Vancouver.

Demand follows last Sunday's near riot, when a large group of fans chased referee Frank Lee into the dressing rooms and broke through a protective cordon of players to do some physical damage such as a cut lip and a jump behind an ear.

It isn't the first time, by any means, that this has happened at Callister Park; and it isn't likely to be the last. Some day, a game official is going to be seriously, perhaps even fatally, injured. Police protection may cut down that possibility but there must surely be a better way to handle the situation which is a disgrace to any sport and a sad commentary on the ruling power of league officials.

Almost invariably, perhaps without exception, these demonstrations of physical violence are caused by supporters of the pampered Columbus entry. It's a club made up in large part by "new" Canadians which attracts a fanatical following of other newcomers whose actions strongly indicate a resentment even more than the more-natural retention of their old nationalistic tendencies.

It's past time for the league to do something about it other than to depend on police protection, costly and only a temporary answer to a problem that should not be allowed to exist.

Because Columbus matches easily draw the largest crowds, PCSL officials have even been willing to accord this club preferential treatment. Schedules have been changed and other clubs have had to share the costs of previous policing, needed only when Columbus plays.

Obviously, PCSL officials are extremely reluctant to make any move that could cost it its breadwinner and, so, it's often a case of a big tail wagging what is a small dog. It's a situation that is becoming intolerable and which, continued, will make the loss to the league, and to soccer, far greater than the loss of the Columbus team.

Perhaps officials of the Columbus club deplore the carryings-on of their supporters but the only way to curb the lawlessness is to act against the club, which is the symbol for something in the unthinking minds of many of its supporters.

Acting against the club in this case may mean more than putting an end to the pampering it has always received. It should be forced to play as scheduled without having a previous say about the schedule. If police protection is needed at Columbus games until matters have straightened out it should come out of the club's share of the gate. And if it is obvious that it is Columbus supporters who interfere with the playing of a match, the points should be forfeited. These fans are obviously suffering from a persecution complex held over from their past. They'll never lose it unless the problem is handled firmly. And with fairness to all clubs.

PAROCHIALISM? Voting for the three Schenley awards is now down to six of the best in the Canadian Football League but it's open to question if they are THE six best and there is a suspicion that blind prejudices or loyalties have affected the decision of some selectors.

As you have probably read, it will be Calgary fullback Lovell Coleman or Toronto-halfback Dick Slatto who will be the winner of the main award as the outstanding 1964 player in the CFL. For the outstanding Canadian it's between Calgary-placemaker Larry Robinson and Hamilton-halfback Tommy Grant. And B.C.-linebacker Toin Brown will defend against Hamilton-tackle John Barrow for recognition as the outstanding lineman.

There is no right here to quarrel with the Eastern selections, which certainly appear to be logical enough, but the selection of Robinson and Coleman occasions more than a little surprise.

There is no disputing the ability of either player. Robinson is a fine placemaker and a fair defensive back and Coleman is certainly one of the two or three best runners in the Western Conference, but let's look at it another way.

Give any of the nine CFL coaches the right to select a Canadian player out of the West and it's odds on that Robinson wouldn't get the call from any of them. But the big quarrel here is with the selection of Coleman.

Although Coleman, in a sense, is a far better nominee than Robinson, there had to be some parochial thinking in his selection over Brown or Tommy-Joe Coffey.

Brown is probably the best football player in the CFL, and would probably be the choice of any National Football League club given the right to select one CFL player. The Lions wouldn't trade him for Coleman but you can bet that the Stampede would make the swap. But Brown is to be denied his chance at the top honor because too many selectors feel that it must go to an offensive backfielder.

But if they couldn't vote for Brown, why not for Coffey? Here is an amazing excellence which isn't fully recognized because it was to be found on a club which doesn't have too much of it. What the West has done, it seems, is to lose its chance for at least two awards by not putting up its best representatives.

Marcel Paille kept the New York club in the game as the Wings turned in a strong game.

A four-minute barrage in the latter part of the first period finally paid off as Smith slapped a five-footer past Paille. Dick Duff tied it up in the second period but the Wings came right back to score through Ullman while Rangers' Vic Hadfield sat out a penalty.

Wings continued to apply pressure and got their insurance goal midway through the third period.

At Montreal both clubs skated as if the Stanley Cup was at stake in a game which kept the 15,331 fans in constant uproar.

FIRST START

Henri Richard, starting his first game of the season but having to leave before it was over as he aggravated his groin injury, brought the house down by putting Canadiens ahead at 12:11 of the first period.

Bob Pulford was in the penalty box when Jean Beliveau steamed in on the right side. He got too far in but his back pass went to Richard, who drilled the puck home from close in.

STEAMING SHOT

Rookie Ron Ellis squared it with his sixth goal of the season, a steaming shot from 20 feet, in the last minute of the first period.

Play, rugged and fast from the start, increased in tempo as the game progressed. Carl Brewer put Toronto ahead at 13:51 of the second when his soft 45-foot shot was muffed by Charlie Hodge but speedy, little Bob Rousseau set up Jean-Guy Talbot perfectly less than four minutes later.

Talbot's goal was to mean the fourth tie of the season for both clubs, sharing second place a point behind Detroit, but numerous scoring chances were wasted in the last 20 minutes.

Best chance went begging when Toronto goalie Terry Sawchuk was flat on his face 10 feet in front of the goal and Beliveau couldn't centre the puck for two waiting teammates.

OUTDOORS

with Alec Merriman

Antlerless deer season comes in all over Vancouver Island this weekend and that should bring hunters out again in full force.

There are still many hunters with a distaste for shooting does and fawns, but game biologists are piling up pretty conclusive evidence that it pays off in better all-round hunting. The Cowichan area, where deer hunting is getting better every year and the deer are getting bigger every year, is cited as an area where antlerless shooting has paid off. But those opposed to shooting does and fawns will claim a succession of mild winters and better deer habitat has made the difference.

One of those still very much opposed to doe shooting is Wally Butler, who controls the fish and game access to the Butlers' jogging claim at Sooke.

He was one of the original members of the fish and game deer panel which so violently opposed antlerless seasons. He still feels that way and he has closed the Butlers' access area for doe season, effective this weekend.

Mild weather has been exceptionally pleasant, but it really hasn't been a treat for hunters and river fishermen. Rivers are low... too low for the best fishing... The deer are still in the highlands and need to be driven down by cold weather to provide good hunting.

The waterfowl haven't started arriving in appreciable numbers to provide good shooting. Reuben Parker of Tofino told us Thursday that the past few nights he has heard some honkers flying at night, but they are only just starting to arrive at Tofino. This Remembrance Day weekend doesn't appear to be the right one for the traditional Tofino goose shoot this year, although there have been a few Canadas bagged.

Saltwater fishermen are still picking up big coho salmon at Cowichan but the bay is full of chum (dog) salmon, with the coho in a few pockets.

It is sort of the in-between weeks for salmon fishermen.

A few winter springs have arrived at Oak Bay. There is some pretty fair jacksprings and small spring salmon fishing in the middle Saanich Inlet... White Lady, Quarry Bay, Rough Creek, Deep Hole waters... in the early morning and late afternoons with 150 feet to 200 feet and planer.

Grilse have gone off the bite.

Remembrance Day is the traditional start of Saanich Inlet fishing for springs, jacks and fair-sized grilse on the bucktail in the vicinity of the White Lady and Stone House, and the bottom end of Pleasant Arm.

But, right now the feed is down deep and it will have to come up again before the sporty bucktailing starts. Keep a lookout for the birds to start feeding again... and then the fishing should pick up.

Last year winter springs arrived in Sooke to Victoria waterfront waters about Nov. 15.

We found the Cowichan River above Skutz Falls quite low last weekend. The jacksprings that we saw were quite dark. Fishing conditions weren't the best and some more rain is needed. In past years we have made Nov. 10 a traditional trip with Bud Dunnett to Skutz Falls area for good catches of silver jacks and rainbow trout on small spoons and Bear Valley rainbow spinners and worm.

Verna Palliser reports that early week-end rains didn't make an appreciable change in the top end of the river. Fishing from the boats hasn't started yet, but a few fish are being taken from the river banks.

Peter Edwards complains the King Fisherman Contest has ended too soon for some of the best fishing in Cowichan Lake. He says Cowichan Lake is good now for cutthroat, rainbow and dollys on lake troll and worm, flatfish and paste at the mouth of Meade and other creeks.

Trot fishing has been good at Upper Campbell, Melvor, below Ladore, Sproat, Great Central, Somers Lakes. Franklin, Sproat and Stamp Rivers are giving up some steelies.

The chum (dog) salmon are now filling Goldstream and other rivers and fishing for these is illegal.

Fisheries officials want a crackdown on the few fishermen who try to snag fish in the Goldstream. By no stretch of the imagination can an angler claim he is after coho in the Goldstream now... it just isn't possible to selectively fish... and prosecution is likely to follow anyone caught fishing in the Goldstream while the big run is on.

There has also been a crackdown on the "anglers" who line the bridges near Duncan and jig the salmon as they pass under.

United Tried

Here's Why Stoldt Hasn't Been Used

By ROBIN JEFFREY

A number of Victoria United fans have been vociferating considerably in recent weeks because Volker Stoldt is not playing with the Pacific Coast League club.

Apparently the word was spread that Stoldt, who was with United during its first and finest season in the PCL in 1961-62, was not asked to join the team when he returned to Victoria this year.

But those aren't the facts.

FIRST THING

One of the first things manager Fred Magee did when he took over United in August was to approach Stoldt. But Volker wanted to come to United as playing-coach and this didn't fit the team's plans.

Stoldt went to Kickers of the Victoria and District League as their playing-coach.

With the rumor circulating that Stoldt wanted to join United, Magee contacted him last night. But the big blonde, who can play every position including goalkeeper, had to decline the offer.

"He told me Kickers are down to 11 healthy players," Magee said, "and as their playing-coach he couldn't leave them with only 10 men. Otherwise he would have been interested."

United, too, is having its problems with injuries. The Victoria side will be down to 13 players when it meets Vancouver Firefighters at Royal Athletic Park Saturday.

ENOUGH SEATS

Larry DeCosta will be in goal with Dave Stothard and Tony Quinn at fullback and George Paul, Ron Jenkin and Bill Hamilton the halves. Bert Soutar and Len Anderson are the reserves.

Enough seats for 700 people have been moved into Royal Athletic Park.

United also has a game with UBC in Victoria on Remembrance Day and another contest against unknown competition Nov. 14.

Ulcers Stop Del Shofner

NEW YORK (AP)—Del Shofner, star pass catcher for New York Giants, may be lost to the National Football League club for the rest of the season because of stomach ulcers.

Shofner sat out last Sunday's St. Louis game with a liver virus and severe cold. He entered hospital Sunday night for rest and examination. Blood tests revealed the aggravated ulcer condition.

Shofner has been troubled with ulcers throughout his career as a pro.

New Home for Old Convicts

AGASSIZ, B.C. (UPI)—Modern society's concern for the aged has reached its apex—a senior citizens' home for aging penitentiary inmates. The federal government has begun converting the famed British Columbia Agassiz Mountain prison for Freedomite Doukhobors into such a home.

Some 50 elderly prisoners have already been transferred from the B.C. Penitentiary at New Westminster to the lush Fraser Valley site.

The move is part of an expansive scheme for prison reform planned by federal commissioner of penitentiaries, Allan J. MacLeod.

The first transfer followed the release earlier this year of female Freedomites.

The Freedomite men are kept separate from the former penitentiary inmates. A new kitchen was put in for the non-Freedomites and the radical sect members continue to cook their own meals.

The Mountain prison was originally built for the vegetarian Freedomites because they objected to food served in other prisons.

***

Maximum sentences imposed on the Freedomites for intimidating federal and provincial governments were 14 years. The last of them will be released within 10 years. Then all 175 accommodations at the prison will be filled with aged inmates from B.C.'s federal institutions.

Defence Policy

Canadair Hit By Cutback

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canada's largest single defence contractor—Canadair—may soon feel the pinch as at least three senior government departments put into effect a policy of program-

Defence, industry and defence production are making no secret of their view that Canada must assess, establish and be prepared to maintain a sound industrial base in the aviation and defence production fields.

Not only will this mean increased aid to many contractors who have proven their value in diversified defence contracts, but it also has necessitated a hard look at the present state of the industry.

This re-assessment of Canada's defence industry is an outgrowth of Defence Minister Heley's white paper that promised increasing support for research and development projects, while at the same time indicating a tight rein would be held on excessive expenditures.

Canadair, whose vast plant spills over suburban Montreal, has gobbled up a number of large government contracts for some of the most successful projects. These projects, for the most part, were in the field where U.S. aviation firms were already well established—in the design and development of full-scale aircraft.

Another Canadian firm, with the full support of the Canadian government, got itself severely burned in its last venture into this field.

PROGRAM CANCELLED
A. V. Roe (Avro) dropped projects of this magnitude after the Diefenbaker government in 1959 cancelled the multi-million dollar Avro Arrow program that had cost Canadians close to $500,000,000.

Canadair, however, while not venturing into the tactical jet aircraft field, has kept plugging away at the development of large transports—a field where they have failed in recent years—right across the board.

Police Costs Worry Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Roblin said Thursday the Manitoba government is deeply disturbed about federal government plans to "drastically" increase the cost to provinces for RCMP services.

Mr. Roblin said details of the increase have yet to be worked out, but it could cost Manitoba anywhere from $500,000 to $1,000,000 more a year. "We are quite unconvinced an increase of this magnitude is warranted," he said.

John D. Roblin Rebuked

Smoking 'Own Funeral' LaMarsh Tells Teens

WINNIPEG (UPI)—Federal Health Minister LaMarsh had words of rebuke for Opposition leader Diefenbaker, Manitoba Premier Roblin and the controversial practice of cigarette-smoking, when she met newsmen here Wednesday.

In a free-swinging press conference, the health minister described Mr. Diefenbaker as "an amachronism," labelled Mr. Roblin's views on economic priorities "difficult to understand" and warned teenagers that "smoking is their own funeral."

Miss LaMarsh said "Time has passed Mr. Diefenbaker by, but he isn't aware of it," and added that "the forces against him in his own party are rapidly increasing."

Regarding Mr. Roblin's economic views she said her intention to institute the proposed Canada pension plan by the beginning of 1966, and the need to assess economic priorities, are not mutually exclusive as suggested by the Manitoba premier.

"I don't know why the provinces can't use the money from the pension plan's investment pool for their own priorities," she said.

Miss LaMarsh said her department is planning an Easter conference on the subject of smoking for teenagers.

"It will be just education," she said. "If they want to smoke, we'll make sure they know it's their own funeral."

Body Found Near Albert Head

The body of Mrs. Laverna Maxwell, 606 Atkins Road, was found in a car on a little-used trail off Duke Road near Albert Head Monday.

Mrs. Maxwell had been missing from her home since Oct. 12 and was the subject of a police search.

Her body was found by D. L. Brown, 358 Taylor Road.

Police said there will be a coroner's inquiry into the death. No date has yet been set.

Post Office Will Close

Post office wickets including money order and savings bank will be closed Wednesday, Remembrance Day, and there will be no letter carrier or rural mail delivery.

There will be normal holiday service on special deliveries, mail receipts and dispatches.

The box lobby will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and street letter boxes will be cleared at the evening collection only.

North Kamloops Changes Mind

NORTH KAMLOOPS (CP)—Reversing a previous decision, council in North Kamloops has agreed to place a fluoridation referendum in next month's municipal elections.

The decision came Wednesday night after a delegation led by Mrs. Joyce Simpson appeared before council and asked for the referendum.

Driver Jailed 30 Days Following Fatal Crash

Leslie Frank Perry, 21, of Work Point Barracks, was jailed for 30 days and his driving licence suspended for 18 months when he was found guilty of a reduced charge of dangerous driving, in assize court Thursday.

Perry was originally charged with causing death by criminal negligence following an accident last May 17 in which Della Mae Howd, 18, was fatally injured. After deliberating one hour and 10 minutes, the jury of 11 men and one woman brought in a verdict of guilty of the lesser charge.

In passing sentence, Mr. Justice F. K. Collins said: "If a person drives at the speed you say you were driving, it means you are a person who needs to be taught a lesson. I am loath to impose a jail sentence but I feel there must be one.

"You shall suffer imprisonment for 30 days, and to help you learn that lesson, the court prohibits you from driving for 18 months in Canada.

"The state must express abhorrence at this type of crime and the actions that make up this crime," he declared.

Perry earlier testified he had been travelling up to 75 miles an hour just before the accident at Douglas and Kenneth Streets.

The dead girl had been a passenger in a car driven by Walter M. Allison, 631 Kenneth, which was struck by Perry's car.

Neither Allison or Perry was seriously injured in the accident.

Report Not Confirmed

Roadside Operation Apparently Hoax

NEW YORK (AP) — Police and hospital authorities said an account of a roadside open heart operation by a Canadian doctor was an apparent hoax. A man who said he was a Vancouver surgeon got in touch with a New York newspaper, saying he had performed such an operation on a youngster who subsequently was taken to Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

He said he had received a $5,000 cheque from the grateful father and would donate it to charity.

The Associated Press picked up the story. Subsequent checks with police in nearby Westchester County could find no report of such an operation. A telephone call to Mayo Clinic showed that no boy of the name given had been taken there.

Fund Drive Minus Firemen

Firemen in Greater Victoria will not be campaigning for the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada when the national drive for research funds begins next week.

"We cannot afford to," said a spokesman for the fire fighters' union. "At present the association gets $3,300 from the United Fund and the last time we tried to campaign for them in 1955, we raised only $2,000."

NOT ELIGIBLE

If an association conducts a campaign for funds outside of the United Appeal it is not eligible to receive United Appeal donations.

For the past 10 years Canadian fire fighters, through the International Association of Fire Fighters, have pledged to support the association by raising funds.

Since they first started, Canadian fire fighters have raised half of the $2,000,000 that has been made available to researchers by the association.

Crackdown Likely

City Eyes Machine
'Casinos'

A crackdown on pinball machines appeared likely Thursday after a city council meeting was told they were illegal and that it was not necessary to prove a "pay-off" before seizing them and charging the owner.

Traffic
Slowed
By Fog

Fog shrouded Greater Victoria and the Saanich Peninsula Thursday night, causing the last three Air Canada flights to be cancelled and motorists in the city to inch along in traffic.

The B.C. ferry service reported ferries on time and unimpeded by fog.

Visibility in Victoria was down to a few yards by 10 p.m., and in some spots less. Motorists took a few additional seconds waiting at stop signs to be sure there was no through traffic approaching.

Visibility at Patricia Bay Airport rose and fell throughout the night, ranging from between an eighth of a mile and half a mile, while at the ferry terminal two miles away visibility was good.

Today's weather forecast calls for variable cloudiness, with showers in the afternoon.

Fog patches in low-lying areas are forecast in the early morning.

An Air Canada spokesman said conditions would be regarded as abnormal until 10 a.m. today.

Around Town

Letter
Real Surprise

"It will, I'm sure, be a surprise to you..." the letter began.

It was all of that for travel agent Hector Steven of Tolem Travel to receive a letter from a man in South Africa who had seen Mr. Steven's name in The Daily Colonist's Seen in Passing column more than six months ago.

Jack Evans, who now lives in Cape Town, wrote for information about Victoria. He later wrote he is planning to move to Canada and decided Victoria had a climate most similar to South Africa.

Knee-deep in rehearsals and rehearsals for the Miss Canada Pageant in Toronto is 20-year-old Linda Douma—Miss Sidney and Miss PNE of 1963.

"Anyone who wants to can send a telegram of encouragement to her in care of the O'Keefe Centre in Toronto," Sidney Lions Club president John Callard said Wednesday.

Dr. Lynwood Smith of the department of biology at the University of Victoria will address the Victoria Natural History Society at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Douglas Building Cafeteria.

Miss M. C. Melburn of the Botany Group, Victoria Natural History Society, will conduct a Fungus Foray through Francis Park Saturday. The foray will leave Monterey Parking lot at 1:30 p.m.

Applications for the position of manager for the Victoria Chamber of Commerce are being sought by chamber officials before Nov. 20.

The chamber is seeking a successor to John Coppinger who leaves Nov. 30 after six years to become assistant manager of the Winnipeg chamber.

After reading a report from city solicitor T. P. O'Grady, finance committee referred the matter to the police commission, asking why the machines were allowed to continue in Victoria.

OUT IN OPEN

"There are two or three locations in town with banks of these machines right out in the open," said city manager Dennis Young, referring to shops on Douglas and Government.

"To the uninitiated they are just amusement machines, but to the initiated they are nothing less than gambling casinos."

FOR STUDY, ACTION

Mayor R. B. Wilson, who is also chairman of the police commission and who attended a special session of the commission following the committee meeting, said the matter should be referred to the police body for study and action.

"Pinball machines, so-called, are unlawful per se," Mr. O'Grady's report to the committee said.

GAMING HOUSE

"The machine found in cigar stands and similar premises is no more or less than a 'slot machine' within the meaning of the Criminal Code. By the terms of the Criminal Code 'a place that is found to be equipped with a slot machine shall be conclusively presumed to be a common gaming house.'"

In order to bring a slot machine within the definition prohibited by law, it is not necessary to prove a "pay-off," the report states.

DIFFERENT TODAY

The pinball machines in operation today are far different from the amusement machines of some years ago, which were operated by the insertion of a single coin which released three or four balls to be shot into various numbered holes.

Today's sophisticated machines "operate as an entertainment to the gambler equal in its allure at least to the notorious one-armed bandit."

ALTERS ODDS

It accepts an unlimited number of coins as part of a single operation, the report states. Each coin deposited alters the odds, or number of "free games" shown on the backboards of the machines.

When the operator, as a final step, discharges the balls, he hopes for a maximum number of "free games." The result was almost wholly dependent upon the number of coins stuffed into the machine, Mr. O'Grady's report indicated.

$100 PER DAY

A single machine in the proper location could net its owner as much as $100 a day.

It was repeated, at the conclusion of Mr. O'Grady's report, that "a payoff need not be proven for the purpose of seizing such machines and obtaining a conviction under the Criminal Code for the keeping of them."

Mechanical trouble is a headache that plagues every trucker on the road—but for Geoffrey Vantreight, 4437 Tyndall, fast, fast relief is likely to be expensive.

Vantreight was fined $40 in Saanich magistrate's court for being the owner of an unsafe vehicle. He pleaded guilty.

Yet to come is the repair bill for his 7-ton farm pickup truck, which he said is being brought up to standard.

Salute
By Three Services

Dante Head in HMC Dockyard was scene of tri-service salute Thursday for four Esquimalt-based ocean-escorts returning from tri-service exercise (Amex 64 on northern tip of Vancouver Island). Saluting ships are, from left, Maj.-Gen. John Rockingham, general officer commanding western army command, who directed rugged exercise; Rear Admiral Michael Stirling, flag officer Pacific coast, and Air Commodore E. C. Weston, senior air officer Pacific coast, both assistant exercise directors. (Seen to 200 soldiers, sailors and airmen took part in test of communications, tri-service co-operation and tactical procedures.—(Ian McKinn)

In Saanich

Nine Seek Seats
On Council

At least nine candidates will be fighting for the three council seats in the Dec. 12 Saanich election.

Incumbents Leslie Passmore and Harold Todd will definitely run again but Coun. Joe Casey still hasn't decided.

NEWCOMER

School principal Alan J. H. Newberry is the only newcomer to the Saanich political scene as all other candidates have some unsuccessful experience in running for office.

Twice-defeated reeveship candidate Edward Lum hopes to win a seat on council with a view to gaining some municipal experience before challenging the reeveship again.

'UMPTENTH'

And Lionel Speller, government-appointed Saanich police commissioner, will make his "umpteenth" bid for council.

FORUM SLATED

Nominations, which open next week, will close at 12 noon Nov. 30 and the more than 25,000 eligible voters can cast ballots from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Dec. 12.

One all-candidate forum has been set for 8 p.m. Dec. 8 in Mount View High School on Carey Road and others may be scheduled before the election.

Some Fixing Needed

But Apart from That...

• Turn indicator control loose on steering column.

• Turn signals inadequate.

• No right rear turn light.

• No tail light.

• No illumination lights.

• Open floor boards on driver's side of cab (over the battery and connections).

• Broken ignition key (ignition operated by connecting wire).

• Live wires hanging from dashboard and steering column and tail light.

• No front licence plate.

• Cracked right windshield.

• One wiper missing.

• It would have been easier for the prosecutor to have listed the things on your truck that are right," commented Magistrate D. G. Ashby.

"I didn't realize it was that bad," volunteered Vantreight.

$3,000,000 for Three Ferry Jobs Awarded VMD

Victoria Machinery Depot has been awarded the contract for more than $3,000,000 to build three ferries for the B.C. government, Premier Bennett said in Vancouver Thursday.

The new contract will provide jobs for up to 125 men during 1965.

This is the second time the Victoria shipyard has been awarded a contract for three ferries to be used on the Gulf Islands and Howe Sound run.

Tenders were recalled when three other west coast shipyards protested that VMD had not met specifications.

VMD subsequently was low bidder for the second time.

"We are glad that we have again been awarded the contract," VMD president Harold Husband said last night. "I am pleased that we have been able to keep this work in Victoria and provide jobs for Victoria workers."

Playhouse, Landscaping

New Shock
Over
Winter Grant

City hall took another blow in an already bruised part of its financial anatomy—winter works—at a Thursday meeting of the council financial committee.

Refusal of the provincial government to approve of applications for $22,000 in winter works grants toward work on the McPherson Playhouse and civic square landscaping, came as a shock.

Reason given was that these projects were not shut down during the summer.

EARLIER WALLOP

This blow came on top of an earlier wallop from the municipal affairs department in which minister Dan Campbell restricted the government share of employment assistance on winter works to those men who had been on relief for a minimum of three months.

Latest blow was struck by the provincial department of labor under Leslie Peterson.

GOOD FAITH

"The department of labor does not feel these projects qualify, as work was continued throughout the summer and would have been continued for the winter in any event," said a letter from J. D. Baird, inspector of municipalities.

"I know you submitted the projects in good faith and am not being critical in any way."

Mayor R. B. Wilson suggested that city officials should make an appointment with government officials to discuss the matter.

Courthouse Costs
Pared for Contract

A special meeting of the police commission was held Thursday to put wheels under the long-delayed station-courthouse complex on Figgard Street.

A $347,096 contract will probably be authorized in a week.

The final price represents many weeks of cutting costs and paring plans—all dating from the meeting a couple of months ago when the original tender for the job was found to be more than $150,000 above estimates.

Two big items excised from the original price were the cost of installing an elevator ($18,000) which was put over until a future year, and the cost of the furniture ($18,500) which was transferred to the 1965 budget.

Another saving was effected by transferring the cost of a wall, screening the police station, to the general account of Centennial Square, of which the new police station precinct will form a part.

The $347,096 price, which will be ratified by city council at a regular meeting next Thursday, includes a contingency reserve fund for emergencies.

The contract will be signed with the construction company soon after next Thursday, and work will be started at once.

City Hall
'All Out'
For Yuletide

A new city hall complex deserves the best in Christmas decorations and aldermen are willing to spend $2,384 to see that the civic precinct looks really festive this year.

There will be lots of color, lights over the many archways and all the other appurtenances which go with the holy season.

Expenditure was authorized by city council finance committee Thursday.

$140,000 Available?
Government
Holds Up Nurse Home

A municipal grant of $140,000 for an addition to the Royal Jubilee Hospital's nurses' residence has been available since December 1962, but the work has never been done, the Colonist was told Thursday.

Dr. D. M. Whitely, chief of the medical staff at the Jubilee, said the reason the work has not been done is because of a delay in approving of the plans by either the federal or provincial government.

"I don't know at which level the plans have been stopped," he said, "but I do know if the work had been done we would have been able to take larger nursing classes and the nurse shortage might not be so acute as it is now."

"They certainly have known the money was available," said Dr. Whitely.

Health Minister Eric Martin and hospital board chairman

Joseph Casey were not available for comment.

In 1962 Greater Victoria municipalities approved a grant of $140,000 for an addition to the nurses' residence as well as an additional $60,000 grant to expand the Jubilee laboratory and heating system.

The work has never been done.

Dr. Whitely said the present lab facilities at the hospital would only be effective for "not more than two years."

At the time the grants were approved, municipal representatives were given to understand another $100,000 was to be made available by an anonymous donor.

'Clear Half-Truths'

Meanwhile, result of a month-long study into hospital bed needs in the Greater Victoria and Sidney area is expected to be released next week.

The hospital bed study was undertaken by a special committee of the Victoria District Hospital Administrators' Council while bed shortage problems in city hospitals were still being aired internally.

The committee chairman, John S. Holdstock, administrator of Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, said Thursday he hopes the report will "clear up some of the half-truths that have been flying around."

Members of his committee are Dr. R. E. Adams, medical director at St. Joseph's Hospital; T. J. Bradley, administrator of Rest Haven Hospital in Sidney; and M. A. M. Fraser, assistant administrator at the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The committee had just begun assembling information on the bed problems when it was disclosed to The Daily Colonist Oct. 8, that there were empty beds in both the Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals, while the waiting list in the city was more than 1,000.

Combined Effort

The administrator's committee had been set up as a suggestion of Health Minister Eric Martin. At the time each hospital was conducting its own bed survey and it was felt they should be combined into one report from a single committee.

"Our report may set this whole problem in its proper perspective," said Mr. Holdstock.

The open conflict began when Dr. Whitely accused Mr. Martin of withholding funds from BCHIS that he said could have opened the 105 vacant beds in the hospital.

Mr. Martin denied that BCHIS was responsible for the empty beds, saying it was strictly a matter of shortage of graduate nurses.

Later the widening rift between the city's medical men and BCHIS developed into charges and denials of political pressuring.

Public hearings into the Jubilee bed problems have been suggested.

Mr. Holdstock disagreed saying: "The only way this matter will be settled is if intelligent men who know something about the problem sit down with the facts and discuss the problem with a view to solving it."

Groves, tea convener, at left, and Mrs. W. T. Armstrong and Mrs. S. K. Hayward, general co-conveners. In addition there will be stalls for home baking, aprons, plants and flowers, preserves and candies, knitting, novelties, hat bar and fish pond. Afternoon tea and children's refreshments will also be served.—(Ian McKain)

Our Man In The Kitchen

HYMAN GOLDBERG

A fellow he knows who makes his living writing gags for comedians. David Green tells, was deeply troubled about his future so he decided to go to a psychiatrist for help.

First, the psychiatrist told him, he had to know if there was any specific problem that was worrying him. "Yes," said the gag writer. "You see, I make my living by being funny every time I sit down at my typewriter. And when I go to bed at night, I can't sleep because I keep worrying about whether I'll be funny the next day. My entire future depends on being funny every day, you see."

The psychiatrist nodded. "Yes," he said. "I can see how that would be a problem to you. Well, I think that maybe I can help you." The gag writer wanted to know about the course of treatment. "I want you to come in five days a week, for a 30-minute session each day." "And how much would that cost?" the gag writer asked. He was told it would be $50 per session.

The gag writer did some quick mental arithmetic. "And how long would the treatment last?" he asked. The psychiatrist said he didn't know; maybe years. "Gimmie," he muttered the gag writer, "$50 five times a week makes $250 a week, for 52 weeks, that makes $13,000 a year." The psychiatrist said that was right. "Well," said the gag writer, "that takes care of your future all right, but what about mine?" Your future will look brighter if you have some: One pound chicken breasts; chicken fat, butter, oil or margarine; 1 large onion, chopped; 1 clove garlic, chopped; 2 slices white bread; 1 tablespoon parsley, chopped or 1 teaspoon dried parsley flakes; ¼ cup stock or consommé; 3 eggs, beaten.

Brown the chicken breasts in hot fat on both sides and remove from the pan. Sauté the onion and garlic until they are soft and just slightly browned. Remove the crusts from the bread, tear the slices up into tiny bits and add bread and parsley to the pan, and cook over medium heat, stirring for about 2 minutes. Add the stock to the pan, and bring to boil, scraping the pan. Cook until the liquid is reduced by about ¼. Remove from heat.

Put the skin and bones from the chicken breasts, cut the meat up fine and combine the meat, beaten eggs and contents of the pan. Shape the mixture into flat cakes and fry in deep fat until golden brown on both sides. Serve this to three people with baked or mashed potatoes and a green salad. We've heard several people credited with this one, but we think it was W. C. Fields who first said: "Money doesn't buy happiness, to be sure; but it lets you look for it in a lot of wonderful places."

Lynn Eberts Honored At Party

Miss Lynn Eberts was honored at a miscellaneous shower in the Glenford Avenue home of Miss Christine Pyle. Pink and white streamers and bells decorated the room, and gifts were placed under a yellow umbrella. The bride-elect was presented with a corsage of yellow roses; her mother, Mrs. C. S. Eberts, and grandmother, Mrs. D. Marshall, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. R. W. Randall, and grandmother, Mrs. D. Randall, received pink and white carnations in corsage. Mrs. Marshall travelled from Toronto to attend her granddaughter's wedding which takes place Saturday, Nov. 7. Mrs. E. G. Stewart and Mrs. J. Edwards assisted with refreshments. Other guests present were Mrs. Enid English, Miss Doreen Harding, Mrs. A. L. Hanson, Miss L. Hyndman, Mrs. Helen Lacy, Miss Marianne Lavigne, Mrs. K. Mayes, Miss Dianne Powell and Miss Bonnie Randall. Those represented but unable to attend were Mrs. H. Alexander, Mrs. K. Anderson, Mrs. E. Orer, Mrs. E. Kellner, Mrs. D. MacFarlane, Miss M. Norris, Mrs. A. Plachner and Mrs. D. Porter.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Last night my husband and I gave a cocktail party. Polly, the guest of honor, was never much of a drinker and I was surprised when she became plastered.

When Polly complained that it was frightfully hot in the house and began to doze I took her aside and told her she'd had too much to drink. My husband suggested she lie down.

She became furious and shouted, "That's a lie, I am just as sober as anyone in this room." Then she fell flat on her face. My husband carried her to a bedroom where she passed out.

This morning when we awakened Polly was gone. A note on the dresser read: "You humiliated me before your guests. I will never forgive you."

I am heartach over this. Shall I call Polly and try to patch things up? My husband says if he never sees her again it will be too soon.

Please advise me.

—CHAGRINED

Dear Chagrined: Your friend's note was a feeble effort to shift the blame for her disreputable performance. Don't fall for it.

Make no effort to patch things up. If Polly apologizes, accept it graciously.

Dear Ann Landers: My problem concerns both etiquette and ethics. I'm a college student whose university is a convenient bus or train ride from home. Each time I make the trip I manage to draw a seat mate who insists on pouring out his or her life's story. No tale is too lurid, too intimate, too tragic, or too long to repeat.

I listen politely, Ann, hoping perhaps the unhappy soul will get some measure of relief from pouring out his problems. At times, however, I think I'm being imposed upon and that these people just like to hear themselves talk.

The point at which my patience snaps is when some stranger tries to pump me for details of my personal life. My question is two-fold. What obligation do I have to a person who happens to be seated next to me on a bus or train? What is an appropriate way to avoid answering improper questions? —COED.

DEAR CO: You have no obligation to listen to ANYONE's life story. Some folks enjoy having their ears talked off (believe it or not) but those who would prefer to read or just gaze out the window should not be robbed of the pleasure by some tasteless, big-mouth bore.

How to turn away an improper question? Simply say, "I don't care to talk about that."

Dear Ann Landers: What can I do about a husband who has been out of college for 19 years but is still there, emotionally. He can't wait until his college bulletin arrives so he can read about the current adventures of people I don't know and don't care to know.

Yesterday he accepted the chairmanship of the 20-year-reunion dinner. This means he will be working like a horse for four months. And who do you think will have to type all the letters he writes? Me.

I went to the school of hard knocks, myself, and all this rah rah stuff seems juvenile. Should not a man over 40 have outgrown such stuff? If you don't agree please don't bother to answer this letter. I've got enough trouble now.—G.R.

DEAR G.R.: If some colleges didn't have the support of loyal alumni they'd have to close their doors. You ought to be pleased that your husband is devoting his time and energy to something worthwhile.

Quit criticizing and give him a hand with the project. Your gripe sounds like sour grapes.

Whirl of Parties For Carol Small

Miss Carol Small, whose marriage to Mr. James William Munde takes place Nov. 14, has been feted at a number of showers and parties given recently by friends and relatives.

Gifts were contained in a large pumpkin when Mrs. W. Gordon, Mrs. K. Evans and Mrs. D. Grover entertained at a shower in the Grover home on Greenridge Crescent. The refreshment table was centered with candles and a shower cake decorated on a harvest theme.

A corsage of pink roses and white heather was presented to the guest of honor and carnation corsages to her mother, Mrs. J. A. Small and the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. J. Munde.

Guests included Mrs. T. Cummins, Mrs. J. Munde, Mrs. C. Lewis, Mrs. W. McKinty, Mrs. R. Small, Mrs. G. Small, Mrs. B. Small, Mrs. J. Rogers, Mrs. H. West, Mrs. J. Phillips, Mrs. R. Redfern and Miss Barbara Cummins.

Mrs. Howard Wakelin and Mrs. J. McMillan were co-hostesses at a shower held in the Cedar Avenue home of the former.

Carnations in corsage were presented to the honor guest; her mother and the mother of the groom-elect. Gifts were concealed in a decorated laundry basket.

Invited guests included Mrs. J. Leeper, Mrs. J. Coffee, Mrs. C. Godber, Mrs. K. Maggs, Mrs. R. Harden, Mrs. L. Hill, Mrs. A. McMillan, Mrs. R. Munn, Mrs. D. Munn, Mrs. M. Munde, the Misses Linda and Darlene Wakelin, Lynn Small and Kerry Godber.

Corsages of feathered carnations were presented to the guest of honor; her mother, the groom-elect's mother and his grandmother, Mrs. J. McMillan at another shower given by Mrs. William Logie and Mrs. F. C. Eastwood and held in the Wildwood Avenue home of the former.

Invited guests included Mrs. W. Gelling, Mrs. N. Howard, Mrs. J. Caddell, Mrs. J. M. Logie, Mrs. Sandy Logie, Mrs. R. Small, Mrs. B. Small, Mrs. G. Small, Mrs. McKinty, Mrs. E. Cross, Mrs. R. Storm, Mrs. C. Lewis, Mrs. C. Savage, Mrs. R. Porter, Mrs. H. Smith, Mrs. D. Miller, Mrs. J. Nicholson, Mrs. M. Mooney, Mrs. H. Barber, Mrs. T. Mitchell, Mrs. D. Tyson, Mrs. L. Shannon, Mrs. R. Barker, Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Grover, the Misses Lynn Small, Doris Mooney, Pat Barber, Joan Barber, Wendy Caddell and Debbie Caddell.

A pink and white decorated basket held the many gifts at the shower held in the Maddison Street home of Mrs. C. J. Phillips in honor of Miss Small. Corsages of carnations were presented to the bride-elect, her mother and the groom-elect's mother.

Other guests were Mrs. J. McMillan, Mrs. H. A. Cook, Mrs. L. Opheim, Mrs. D. MacCallum, Mrs. D. Jacobson, Mrs. F. C. Hensie, Mrs. J. C. Alexander, Mrs. D. Johnson, Mrs. H. E. C. Firth, Mrs. J. Wilkinson, Mrs. A. Whitaker and the Misses Lynn Small, Norma Redfern, Aletha Steck, Grace and Joan Henze.

MacPherson-Zubick

RCMP Guard of Honor At Edmonton Wedding

RCMP officers in scarlet uniforms as guard of honor formed an arch with their lances for fellow officer Const. Gordon Livingston MacPherson and his bride, the former Elizabeth Shirley Zubick, as they left the church following their wedding. Father J. Gieschuk officiated at the ceremony in St. Joseph's Cathedral, Edmonton, for the daughter of Mrs. C. Zubick of Edmonton and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. MacPherson of Shawinigan Lake.

The rich gold and scarlet tones of the attendants' gowns and dress uniforms of the groom and best man blended to make a picturesque backdrop for the lovely bride who was crowned in a floor-length sheath of white peau de soie. An overskirt falling into a full train from a bustle highlighted the exquisite gown. A dainty crystal crown held her short bouffant veil and white stephanotis and ivy were in her bridal bouquet.

Mr. John Zubick gave his sister in marriage. Slim style, floor-length gowns of crystal charm were worn by bridesmaid Miss Marion Reed and flower girl Miss Karen McWhinney, the bride's niece. They carried colonial bouquets of white and gold chrysanthemums.

Const. Norman Carwell was best man. Ushering were Const. Michael Glegg and Const. Jack McIntosh.

A wedding banquet and dance followed at Coral Banquet Room in Edmonton.

The bride chose a blue knitted, two-piece suit for her going-away ensemble.

The newlyweds motored to Vancouver and Victoria by way of Jasper and Banff on their honeymoon. They are now

Guests from Victoria were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Crichton, Miss Shirley Crichton and Mrs. Blanche Fenton. Other out-of-town guests were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. MacPherson, Shawinigan Lake, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Anderson of Moose Jaw, Sask.

Moderator To Speak At Rally

Women of the Victoria and lower Vancouver Island Presbyterian Churches will gather today for a rally in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Kirk Hall on Courtney Street. The event will get underway with a dessert luncheon at 12:30 p.m. and guest speaker will be Dr. Hugh A. MacMillan, moderator of general assembly, Canadian Presbyterian Church.

Dr. MacMillan served as missionary with his wife in Formosa from 1924 to 1962. During the war years his enforced absence from Formosa was spent in Edinburgh and later at the British Embassy in Washington, D.C., where he broadcast to Asia. "What Democracy Is" was the theme of his broadcasts.

After the war Dr. and Mrs. MacMillan returned to Formosa to work with university students and serve with the Canadian Red Cross and Canadian Aid to China. Dr. MacMillan was one of the last foreigners to leave Shanghai before the Communists moved in.

After retiring in 1962 he was sent back to Formosa by the YMCA to establish Canada House, a university student hostel in Taipei. He also directed the extension of YMCA into Formosa's fast growing cities.

Rev. Ronald McMillan of Duncan will give the opening devotional and Mrs. J. L. W. McLean, presbyterial president, will be in charge of the rally meeting.

Evonne Fisher Feted At Whirl of Parties

Social calendar of Miss Evonne Fisher has been filled with a whirl of parties and showers given prior to her marriage on Saturday.

Mrs. Stanley Spillsbury entertained at a miscellaneous shower for the popular bride-elect. Among the guests were Mrs. S. B. Fisher and Miss Wenda Fisher, mother and sister of the honored guest, Mrs. R. J. Webb and Miss Beverley Webb, mother and sister of the groom-elect, Mrs. T. Trace, Mrs. F. McLeod, Mrs. A. Webb, Mrs. M. Olerenshaw, Miss Marilyn Carter, Mrs. Ben Webb, Mrs. E. Leeder, Mrs. Doug Webb and Mrs. R. Townsend.

The CA Young People of Glad Tidings Church gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hudson to honor Miss Fisher and her fiancé, Mr. Gary James Webb. Mr. Ken Birch was master of ceremonies. Corages were presented to the bride-elect, and to Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Webb.

A decorated umbrella held the many gifts when Mrs. G. Peters and Mrs. A. C. Howe entertained at a miscellaneous shower in the latter's Saanich home.

Guests were Mrs. Webb and Beverley, Mrs. Fisher and Wenda, and Mrs. J. Looy. Mrs. R. Bompas, Mrs. T. Pelter, Mrs. H. Boutillier, Mrs. F. Akers, Mrs. J. Wheeler, Mrs. T. Lyons, Mrs. P. Howe, Mrs. Sig Johnson, Mrs. T. Hansfield, Mrs. A. Burdon, Mrs. R.

Haugen, Mrs. K. Maule, Mrs. J. Zern and the Misses Doreen Greenway and Elizabeth Howe. Members of the X-ray department of St. Joseph's Hospital feted the bride-elect at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Roy Rodford. Mrs. H. Fox of Sidney entertained at a pre-wedding party in honor of the bride-elect.

Congregation of Assembly of God Church at Sidney held a miscellaneous shower in the lower auditorium with the CA Young People's group giving the entertainment and the Women's Missionary group providing refreshments.

Following opening of shower gifts Miss Fisher was presented with a red leather writing case in appreciation of her work with the young people in the church. Mr. William Chisholm made the presentation.

A number of the bride-elect's girl friends gave her a surprise cup and saucer shower at the Princess Mary Restaurant. Mrs. William Chisholm acted as hostess for the evening.

Garden Notes

Pity Poor Orphans

By M. V. CHESTNUT, FRES

As a rule, the portion of the vegetable plot in which we grow our carrots, beans, lettuce, onions and sprouts gets plenty of attention. The conscientious gardener digs it over every fall, incorporating plenty of mellow old manure, and all through the growing season the crops are kept well-nourished.

Away down at the far end of the garden, though, there are the perennial vegetables—the rhubarb, horseradish, asparagus and mint—and because these poor orphans come up of their own accord every spring, they are expected to scratch for a living without any assistance at all.

These plants need attention too, and now is a good time to get in a few licks and make life a bit easier for them.

First, the rhubarb patch. Remove the old stems and burn them—because of its high acid content, rhubarb is not a very welcome addition to the compost heap.

Now fork over the soil around each plant, six to eight inches deep, working in a dressing of hoof-and-horn meal—if you can find a source of supply—at the rate of one cupful per square yard, plus a similar amount of bone meal.

Falling this, use one of the slow-acting lawn fertilizers such as Golden Vigoro, which is almost as long-lasting as the excellent hoof-and-horn meal. Finally, spread a six-inch layer of old manure on the ground around and between the rhubarb plants.

If your rhubarb threw up flowering shoots early in the season last year, it is a pretty sure sign that the soil is exhausted and the plants are in need of lifting and dividing.

The new site should be dug over deeply—the whole patch, not just the planting holes—mixing a bucketful of old manure per square yard plus a cupful each of hoof-and-horn and bone meal.

Dig up and divide the old rhubarb roots, each piece for replanting with two or three eyes or growth buds, and replant them four feet apart. Don't pull any stalks at all next year from the transplanted clumps.

If the asparagus bed isn't cleaned up yet, cut down the old stems to almost ground level. Fork over the bed shallowly, being careful not to injure the crowns of the plants, and spread a surface mulch of old manure at least four inches deep over the whole bed.

Don't rake off the manure in the spring; but allow your asparagus spears to grow up through it.

Horseradish needs replanting every third year. The entire bed is dug up, and a new site in full sun should be dug over to a depth of one foot and enriched with very old rotted manure or alfalfa compost.

Straight, clean roots are selected for replanting, each one with a clearly visible eye in its top, planting five inches deep and 15 inches apart.

A lot of our mint hereabouts is suffering from a rust infection that spots the leaves and distorts growth, and in some cases forces the plants into premature flowering.

There is a technique of heat therapy which will eradicate rust, in which the roots are dug up, washed thoroughly, then are immersed in hot water at 118 degrees for 20 minutes before replanting on clean ground.

Personally, I find this a rather messy business, and I find I can keep my julep patch free from rust by heaping an armful of dry straw or excelsior over the plants every fall and touching a match to it.

A quick flash fire like this does a grand clean-up job, and pests as well as disease spores perish on the hot heat in the process.

Beds of thyme, sage and marjoram require replanting every fourth year. In other years, the soil between the plants should be pricked over with the fork and a dressing of slow-acting, long-lasting fertilizer scratched into the surface. Follow this with a three-inch mulch of peat moss, compost or sawdust.

JACK SMITH Plagued by Awful Gus

Kitten Grows Into Monster

"Whatever became of the dear kitten your son found crying in the bushes by the road with its little tail and leg broken?" writes a Mrs. de Trop.

Well, Mrs. de Trop, the dear little thing is still with us, and I regard him as a living symbol of the folly of trying to be a good samaritan in this world.

The helpless wail of a few months ago, a creature likely to bring pity from the hardest heart, has turned into a fat glutton whose greed is matched only by his arrogance.

It has been an unvarying experience to watch this brute metamorphose from a delicate and fragile kitten with a plaintive voice and great innocent eyes into a great predator with a taste for blood sports and a howl that pluck one's spine like an A-string.

We took him to the cat hospital that first night, of course. We are humane folk. I can laugh now, although bitterly, when I recall what the veterinarian said:

"I wouldn't expect too much, Smith. This little fellow's in pretty poor shape. We'll know more in the morning."

My wife phoned the next day. I was quite prepared to accept the news that the matter had come to its inevitable end.

"Then he's going to be all right!" I heard her cooing into the phone. "That's wonderful. Yes. Yes, go ahead with it."

"Go ahead with what?" I asked, heavy with premonition.

"He's going to put the broken leg in a cast and cut off his tail. He says the tail will never work properly. It would just be a drag."

I can tell you that orthopedics and surgery don't come cheap, these days, even on cats.

At first the thing inspired sympathy, with its bobbed tail and its encased hind leg. But once the cat was shined it began to put on weight. Its limp became a swagger. Its true character emerged.

It turned into a terror in the back yard, driving the birds from the bird bath. I soon began to see El Gato, our Mexican cat, in a new light. I felt sorry that I had cursed her as a wanton and barbarian.

Besides this junior Mephistopheles she was an angel. In time, of course, he turned on her, attacking from ambush, hijacking her food, seizing her pillow, torturing her sleep.

The day soon came when she fell ill. She seemed in a trance. Her legs were paralyzed. She stared wildly out of unblinking eyes. We had to take her to the hospital. Three days later the veterinarian asked us to come in.

"I can't find anything physically wrong with the cat, Smith," he said. "She seems to have got over it, whatever it was."

I told him about the other cat. "Yes, of course," he said. "That's it. She's had a crack-up."

I can tell you that psychiatry is no cheaper than orthopedics and surgery.

El Gato is home now, but she seems disassociated. We are keeping Gus away from her.

I'm the one who named him Gus. The others think it's cute. But I know what it really means. It's short for Genghis Khan.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Anita Trims Surplus

LONDON (NANA)—Anita Ekberg will never be thin—heaven and Anita knows. But, she has shed X number of pounds before reporting to MGM in London for The ABC Murders with Tony Randall and Robert Morley. In fact Anita is looking so gorgeous that the rotund Mr. Morley plans to ask her how she did it. Not that he intends going on a diet himself, but it's nice to know these things.

It figured. Carroll Baker will star for Joe Levine in the movie version of Henry Miller's most banned book, Tropic of Cancer. After Harlow of course.

Jack Garfin in Paris with wife, Carroll Baker, gave me the details of the two pictures he will direct on his contract with Joe Levine—A Long and Happy Life, by Reynolds Price. It was the first Faulkner award. "I'm hoping to get Steve McQueen. Garfin has a good chance of getting Steve, because 'I took him out of the neighborhood playhouse, years ago, and put him into his first play. Jack also started the career of George Peppard. His second film, Natural Child, will be made next summer in New York City. Jack also has a script titled Magic. "It's based on Carroll's life which has been quite unbelievable."

Every Beattie but Ringo has a fancy automobile. Ringo hasn't bothered to learn to drive yet. . . . Tony Quinn bought a beautiful house on the outskirts of Rome with five acres to give him the privacy he craves. His girl, Jolanda, is a bit plumper. . . . Someone was saying that John Humphrey and his partner Charlie Feldman are planning a TV series based on the James Bond character. I shall ask them when I see them again in Paris.

Terence Stamp is the number one male for Francis Truffaut's next film, Fahrenheit 431. And Elizabeth Ashley is the number one female. It's all a question of when they can find the time.

Coming up for Rita Tushingham—a film version of The Knack which I believe is now playing off-Broadway. . . . Sad sight in Paris these cool evenings, Sammy Frey who used to be number one with Brigitte Bardot—all by his own name. He's too good-looking to be alone.

Those Magnificent Planes cost 20th Century-Fox $260,000 to build. These replicas of the earliest planes in the early 1900s can actually fly and 20th has received many offers for them from flying nuts. But no deal. The planes will be used to promote the picture.

Paul Newman, his two cuddlesome little blonde daughters and expecting wife Joanne Woodward, had to leave their swank hotel off the Champs Elysees because of the fearful racket from the building of an underground garage. It sounded like it came from right under their apartment. "We've taken the apartment Gregory Peck and Fred Zinnemann rented while they made Beyond a Pale Horse. Joanne told me between French lessons. . . . The Pale Horse was more than its title. I was informed by a European exhibitor. Well, it wasn't a very good story to begin with and that's where you have to begin.

Talk about high prices! You haven't spent anything until you've tried to rent an apartment in Paris. Peter O'Toole, when his children were here, rented two suites at a moderately well-known hotel. The price: $6,000 a month, without food, yet. A press agent I know here merely wanted one bedroom, one sitting room and one bathroom. The price was $750 a month. And $50 a month more for the rental of an icebox and tiny stove. One room in a top hotel is $52 a day. I would probably faint if I saw the bill for the Richard Burtons and their entourage at the Lancaster, which is off the Champs Elysees. They are paying for 11 people—this includes two secretaries, a business manager, two nurses (one for each daughter), and a tutor for the boys.

He's Canada's High Priest of Hate

By FRANK JONES

GOODERHAM, Ont. (TNS)—I have met Canada's high priest of hate. His name is John Ross Taylor, 51, and he plans racial hatred campaigns from a dilapidated farm house near this Haliburton village.

In the 1930s, he was the youthful co-leader of Canada's Union of Fascists.

His role in the Canadian Unity movement today is just as important.

He admitted during a three-hour interview that:

He is the Canadian agent of the booklet, The Red Rabbi, about Rabbi Abraham Feinberg, which the Ontario attorney general's department is investigating.

He is the Canadian agent for

The Thunderbolt, a U.S. racist paper banned from Canadian mails.

And with hate-monger David Stanley, 21, of Scarborough, Ont., he is working on a series of pamphlets attacking prominent Canadian Jewish leaders.

His farmhouse has, according to local residents, been used as a training ground for military-minded young rightists.

I found Taylor alone except for an Austrian, Wolfgang Schillbach, who Taylor confided, "is an excellent mapmaker."

The large number of beds in the house seemed to bear out charges that it is a training camp.

Taylor said his greatest interest at present was promoting an organization he called the Natural Order. He produced Natural Order leaflets stating Communism is Jewish, Jews Finance Race-Mixing.

"I've distributed them by the thousands, and I'll be sending lots more," he said.

Taylor talked interminably of his conversion to Fascism in the early 1930s. "I had been looking for the answer for eight years."

'It's as Ridiculous As the Flag Debate'

NEW HAMBURG, Ont. (CP)—New Hamburg won't have a centennial project. Reeve Curtis Roth said Tuesday, noting that while half the world is starving, "it's as ridiculous as the flag debate."

"It's causing more friction in municipal councils across Canada than anything else," said Mr. Roth. "I'm washing my hands of it."

"The government is spending millions in Montreal on buildings which will be torn down," he said.

New Hamburg, 10 miles southwest of Kitchener, was considering a $10,000 addition to the village's municipal hall. But "they (the government) want us to build something we don't need," said Mr. Roth.

German Papers Seized

BERLIN (Reuters)—Police here, acting on a judge's order, raided the offices of two weekly newspapers against which West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt has filed a libel action, West Berlin justice officials announced yesterday. They said 3,000 copies of the papers — Siebenster-Blatt and Wochen-Echo — were confiscated in the raids.

Mrs. Sanches

SOUTHAMPTON, England — Jimmy Peck, 17, of London, Ont., bought a ticket for 50 cents and travelled by ship in luxury across the Atlantic with the first-class passengers.

"It was so easy," he said. "I was never questioned." That 50 cents was the cost of a visitor's ticket to board the liner France in New York, where he went by train from London, Ont.

Jimmy played table tennis in the first-class games room, swam in the heated swimming pool, danced in the teenage lounge and kept fit in the gymnasium.

The secret was out when he was asked for his landing card at Southampton. He said: "When I told the captain he laughed and let me go when I promised to repay the fare."

CAMARILLO, Calif. — Sixty-nine-year-old Petra Sanchez crawled a half-mile on her knees to a neighborhood Roman Catholic church to thank God for the election of President Johnson.

"I prayed every day for Johnson's victory, and made a vow that if he won, I would, with pleasure, go on my knees to the church," Mrs. Sanchez told Rev. Patrick Doherty.

Names In the News

COLOMBO — Prime Minister Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike has denied an allegation made by a Buddhist monk that Marxists were planning a coup in Ceylon. The monk, Neapitigedera Gnanananda, said a leading Marxist — a minister in the coalition government and one of the party's senior officials — was planning the coup.

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill, who will be 90 on Nov. 30, had a rare night out Thursday night at an exclusive London dining club, The Other Club, which he founded with Lord Birkhead in 1911.

KELOWNA (CP) — Owen Lewis Jones, former member of Parliament and mayor of Kelowna, died Thursday at the age of 76. Mr. Jones was CCF member for Yale and Okanagan Boundary riding in the House of Commons from 1948 to 1957, and mayor of Kelowna from 1936 to 1939.

VANCOUVER — Frank M. Ross, industrialist and former lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, says scarcity of skilled labor and technicians will be this province's greatest problem two years hence. Mr. Ross said more young people must take advantage of vocational and technical training.

NICOSIA, Cyprus — Turkish-Cypriot leader Fazil Kucuk has appealed for a meeting of the joint Greek-Turkish Cyprus council of ministers — or cabinet — which has not met with all members present since the outbreak of the island's crisis last December.

LONDON — Archbishop Howard Clark, Anglican Primate of Canada, said here he sees no apparent "backlash" against French-speaking Canadians by the rest of the country.

BAMBERG, West Germany — Wolfgang Kirschstein was charged with illegally importing neo-Nazi literature from the United States and Sweden and with stirring racial hatred.

SYDNEY — Sydney newspapers say U.S. President Johnson probably would visit Australia next year. The Sun reports from Canberra the visit probably would be between March and May and that the president almost certainly would bring his wife and daughters.

HAMILTON — Prime Minister Pearson called on Opposition Leader Diefenbaker to "stop obstructing and stop filibustering" government legislation before Parliament, during a prolonged attack on Mr. Diefenbaker's parliamentary tactics.

GALT, Ont. — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker has suggested that the flag issue should be held back in Parliament, and put to a plebiscite at the next general election.

WARSAW, Poland — Polish-born Melchior Wankowicz, 72, who holds U.S. citizenship, is awaiting sentence here following his trial on charges of "slandering Poland abroad."

PHILADELPHIA — Four Saturday Evening Post editors who moved to unseat Curtis Publishing Company chairman Matthew J. Conigan have resigned, says ousted editor-in-chief Clay Blair Jr. Blair and Marvin Kantor, head of Curtis' magazine division, were fired. Those resigning were Henry Walker, Norman Ritter, Thomas Mavel and Zan Ynokovig.

NEW YORK — Comedian Lesley Bruce has been convicted by a three-judge court of giving obscene performances at the Cafe au Gogo in Greenwich village. The trial in New York criminal court began June 16. Bruce said Wednesday he has dismissed his lawyer, who is suing him for legal fees. He faces up to a year in jail.

Entertainment Inviting, Varied

Entertainment affairs are taking place all over this evening.

The Secret Coffee House, after a closure for alterations of four days, reopens this evening with a triple bill of the New Wave Singers, Tom Northcott and the (self-styled) "Abominable" Fred Hill.

This program continues until Monday when Canada's top-notch comedian, Dave Broadfoot, comes to town and to the Secret for a sparkling week.

That pleasant comedy, Pink String and Sealing Wax, also opens this evening, 8:15 p.m. at the Kinsmen Hall in Sidney. It also plays tomorrow evening.

Presented by the Peninsula Players and directed by Margaret Dixon, the cast includes newcomers Cindy Tyler and Geoffrey Stewart as well as Joan Henriksen, Florence Newcombe, Patricia Lawrence, Jackie Edwards, Joe Fenlon, Herb Drew and Chuck Swannell.

The Peninsula Players have displayed a good habit of staging some very entertaining plays and pursuing this course to the point of winning festivals with them. Pink String and Sealing Wax should be well worth penetrating our seasonal fog to go and see.

TARTANS
Tartans on Tour comes to the Royal Theatre this evening with two shows: 8:00 and 8:30 p.m.

The headliner of the show is a Scotman with an Irish name, singer Dennis Clancy. He visited Victoria as a member of the White Heather Party a few years back.

Scottish folk singers, the Joe Gordon Four, are also on the bill, along with dancer Sandra Bald, singer Kathie McBain, accordionist Nicol Brown and comedian Jimmie Fletcher.

DUNCAN CONCERT
The Victoria Symphony Orchestra travels to Duncan for a concert at Cowichan High School at 8:30 this evening.

Guest soloist Ernst Friedlander, cellist from Vancouver, will be heard with Lalo's concerto in D minor. The orchestra completes the program with Bizet's Symphony in C and the overture to La Forza del Destino by Verdi.

And don't forget the Easton Theatre Studio's performance of Ralph Kendall's Three Little Pigs: 2:30 p.m. at Oak Bay Junior High tomorrow.

Arm Reimplant Looks Promising
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Basketball player Bob Swaffar passed the first crisis successfully Thursday in an aftermath to surgery to reimplant his severed right arm. Surgeons said the possibility that the 20-year-old Oklahoma State University athlete will keep the arm "looks promising."

Nazi Spent Night in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — George Lincoln Rockwell, the American Nazi leader who is barred from entering Canada, spent a night in a hotel room here last week, a hotel clerk said Thursday.

Mrs. Patricia Kemp, clerk at the Dufferin Hotel, produced a guest card on which a man printed Lincoln Rockwell, 828 N. Randolph, Arlington, Va.

WATCHED SHOW
Mrs. Kemp said she is positive it was the U.S. Nazi leader and that while in his room Oct.

25 he apparently watched a controversial CBC program in which he was shown in a pre-recorded interview. Tony Tomlinovich, co-manager of the hotel, said he, too, was positive it was Rockwell.

Immigration Minister Tremblay denied in the Commons Tuesday that Rockwell had entered Canada in the face of an order denying him access. But Thursday in the Commons he said latest information showed "Rockwell was able to gain admission to Canada as an airline passenger on Oct. 25."

The minister said Rockwell stayed in Vancouver one day, then returned to the United States.

Meanwhile, The Sun Thursday quoted Alex Watts, who identified himself as a telephone interviewer from Nazi headquarters in Arlington as the deputy commander, as saying Rockwell intends to re-enter Canada again soon.

LEAMINGTON, England (UPI) — The Loft Theatre was destroyed by fire Wednesday, disrupting plans of an amateur group rehearsing Christopher Fry's The Lady's Not for Burning.

Tanker Explodes

Training Crash Kills Airmen

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (UPI) — A U.S. Air Force KC97 tanker loaded with jet fuel crashed and exploded on a highway Thursday moments after taking off from Pease Air Force Base. All five crewmen were killed.

The giant, four-engine strato-tanker crashed several hundred feet from the end of the main runway at the seacoast Strategic Air Command (SAC) base.

Witnesses said the plane disintegrated in a "terrific explosion," sending flames towering into the air.

Search Fails To Find Sign of Boy

WINNIPEG (CP) — A large earth pit and a new construction excavation failed to yield a clue Thursday as a reduced search force continued efforts to find a missing boy.

Cameron Woodcox, 4, walked away from a babysitter at his home in St. Vital at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

As hope dimmed St. Vital council decided to reduce a massive search that earlier involved about 1,000 persons and three aircraft.

About 200, including 80 Canadian army soldiers, police and city employees, kept combing the southwest section of the city.

If no trace is found by 5 p.m. Friday the search will be called off.

part in a training exercise. It was the fourth of the heavily-loaded tankers to take off within a few minutes.

An airman watching the tankers leave the runway said "one wing dipped and it looked like the pilot did not have enough altitude to correct."

The ill-fated tanker cut a swath across a golf course and slammed into the road, a heavily-travelled artery. There was no traffic at the time of the crash.

BACKWASH

There was speculation that the plane was caught in the backwash in the tanker that preceded it down the runway.

Flames roared out of control for more than an hour despite the use of special crash foam sprayed on the wreckage to prevent further explosions. Rescuers had difficulty reaching the main fuselage because of the intense heat.

Madison Avenue, Parents Blamed for Promiscuity

NANAIMO — Madison Avenue advertising keyed to sexual attraction was cited Thursday by a Nanaimo obstetrician and gynecologist as a major cause of sexual promiscuity among youngsters.

Parents could reduce the impact. Using the Profumo scandal as an example, he said parents could use it as a springboard for a little moralizing instead of saying, "Towie, look at that Mandy!"

Battered So Much

"These kids are getting battered so much by this stimulation that I sometimes wonder if by the time they are 40, they will be interested in sex at all," said Dr. Howey.

"Let's take the Barbie doll as a healthy little lesson in materialism. This little doll comes complete with trousseau.

Million Dollars

"I'm going to make a million dollars. I'm going to make a little diaphragm kit for that doll," he said pointing up the fact that children are being pushed too early towards sex "because it seems to be the thing to do."

"There are tremendous pressures on young people... Babies are being produced that aren't wanted and it is a completely preventable thing. There is no reason why through abstinence or birth control this should happen.

"What am I going to tell my three-year-old daughter when she becomes a teen-ager? I think I will warn her of the tragic results of pre-marital intercourse and if she indicates to me she won't follow this advice, I will teach her birth control. I'm not going to advise anybody else, though, because you can be put in jail for that in Canada," he said.

Dr. Howey chose to call going steady "heterosexual proximity" and said it was the practice of two young people of the opposite sex being together almost constantly without someone watching.

He said the automobile makes it easy for young couples to find the privacy that can lead to promiscuity. When cars were not as plentiful, it was difficult for teen-agers to find this privacy.

Dr. Howey sounded the call for a royal commission investigation of teen-age promiscuity when he spoke to a PTA group Wednesday. But Thursday he said he did not see how a royal commission could act without first having a thorough statistical study of the situation.

League Convention

Sacred Resolutions Kept Under Wraps

By IAN STREET
Colonist Legislative Reporter

VANCOUVER—The list of resolutions to be presented to the annual convention of the B.C. Social Credit League, which opened here today is being kept tightly under wraps.

Convention officials said on Thursday night that the list would be made public at noon today—two hours after the opening.

The unofficial explanation for withholding of resolutions was that the league did not want publicity before they are presented on the convention floor.

LIQUOR LAW

It is known that among resolutions to be presented are those seeking changes in B.C. liquor laws and the establishment of a provincial ambulance service.

Premier Bennett, on his arrival at Hotel Vancouver where the two-day convention is being held, told reporters "this is a league affair. I'm just another delegate."

None of the 500-odd delegates who have registered were able to get copies of the list of resolutions, but one was made available to the premier. Officials said, however, the premier never suggests any changes.

SPEAKS TODAY

Mr. Bennett is scheduled to address the convention at 10:30 this morning.

Mayor William Rathie will welcome delegates and the invocation will be read by Rev. P. A. Gagliardi, highways minister.

The afternoon session will open with report on constitution of the Sacred League and this could produce some fireworks because sweeping changes are rumored.

ON INTO SATURDAY

Resolutions will continue this afternoon and evening and Saturday morning. Premier Bennett will be guest speaker at the windup banquet Saturday night.

Other speakers will include Bert LeBoe, MP for the Cariboo, who will deal with national affairs.

BLACKFEET SALE

The U.S. government paid $1,500,000 to the Blackfoot Indians of Montana for land to establish Glacier National Park, bigger than the state of Rhode Island.

China Beach Access

Kiernan Fails To Satisfy Twin Cities

A delegation from the Twin Cities expressed disappointment after meeting Recreation Minister Kiernan to discuss access to China Creek Park.

They wanted the government to put up $45,000 to build a little more than one mile of new road connecting the highway to Bamfield with the waterfront on the Alberni Canal.

The China Creek property, handed over by MacMillan, Bledel and Powell River to the government for development as a park last spring, is sought as a boat-launching site.

This initial development, the delegation said, would give resident and tourist fishermen a five-mile head start on the journey to fishing grounds at Nahmint.

Mr. Kiernan refused to make any firm commitment, the delegation said.

"Frankly, I'm disappointed," said Ald. Jack Perry of Port Alberni. "After 4½ years we seem to have made very little progress."

Ald. John Williamson of Alberni said between 15,000 and 20,000 residents have no adequate boat-launching facilities. Dennis O'Brien, chairman of the Alberni harbor commission, said two existing launching ramps did not begin to meet the needs of the area.

Child, 3, Pulled From Blaze

CUMBERLAND—A three-year-old boy was rescued by firemen Thursday from his hiding place inside a burning, smoke-filled house here.

Sandy Bell, pulled from a linen closet by deputy fire chief Clive Banks, was taken to Cumberland General Hospital and detained overnight for observation.

FATHER AWAY

Fire was reported in the Allan Avenue home of David Bell at 3:30 p.m., about the time when four of his other children would have been starting home from school.

Mr. Bell, a miner at the Sable River coal mine, was not home at the time.

Mrs. Bell and her three-year-old son were the only ones inside the single storey, wood frame house when a fire started in the kitchen.

Sandy apparently ran to hide in the closet near a bedroom while Mrs. Bell struggled with the fire, neighbors said.

The house was filled with smoke when firemen arrived. Mr. Banks twice entered the house without a mask but could not find the boy, although he heard the lad crying.

He donned a breathing mask and entered the house a third time in search of Sandy. He groped around the linen closet, found the boy and pulled him out feet first.

Firemen contained the blaze to the kitchen, where one wall, the ceiling and floor were burned. Smoke damage was extensive throughout the house, it was reported.

The family spent the night with friends here.

Too Many Kids Have Bad Teeth

NANAIMO — The director of the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit urged a combined group of three parent-teacher associations to turn out to counter the anti-fluoridation vote at the civic elections Dec. 12.

Dr. Gerald Bonham told Harewood, Princess Royal and Fairview PTA's at a meeting Wednesday "I don't think this is an issue in which we can afford to be apathetic."

He said he was sure persons opposed to fluoridation of city water would be out in force in an attempt to veto the move and he urged the parents to turn out to vote on the issue to destroy the effect of the anti-fluoridation ballot.

"The whole fuss is that we have too many kids with rotten teeth," he said.

Dr. Bonham said that 30 per cent of the population of the United States receives the benefit of fluoridated water and that 25 per cent of the Canadian population east of the Rockies has fluoridation in effect. There are 13 communities in B.C. with fluoridated water supplies.

He discounted allusions to harmful side-effects attributed to fluoride in community water.

Multiple Troubles Spoil Mars Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Mariner III spacecraft was rocketed toward Mars Thursday, but a combination of problems apparently ruined the first U.S. effort to investigate the planet. Mariner IV was being readied for a second try later in the month. Tracking data was fuzzy, but it indicated that the second stage of the booster rocket shut down four seconds too soon. Solar cell problems would have silenced the satellite anyway.

In Ottawa Plans

'Humane' Prisons

MONTREAL (CP) — Justice Minister Favreau said Thursday the government plans to revamp Canada's penal system to make it more humanitarian and coherent.

Storybook Finish For House

TELKWA (CP) — It's happened in comic books, it's happened in movies and Wednesday it happened at Telkwa. The fire chief answered an alarm and when he arrived, it was his own house going up in smoke. Fire chief Bill Ross and the volunteer fire brigade were unable to stop flames from destroying his $14,000 home here, 120 miles east of Prince Rupert.

"In spite of considerable recent progress, our correctional system remains in many ways disorderly, reactionary and inhuman," he told the Canadian Criminology Society. Mr. Favreau said his department is planning:
● A general revision of the Criminal Code, the first since 1958;
● A parliamentary inquiry into penitentiaries;
● An inquiry by experts into probation, parole and other services for rehabilitating criminals.
Rehabilitation, not vengeful punishment, should be the heart of the entire correctional system, he said.

Needled by Note

'Go Jump in the Lake'

KAMLOOPS (CP) — An angry Highway Minister Gagliardi has told Frank Howard to jump in a lake, mind his own business and stop being a disgrace to the nation. He was replying to a letter which Mr. Howard, New Democratic MP for Skeena, wrote to him demanding development of a road between Williams Lake, in the Cariboo, and Bella Coola, on the coast.

Mr. Howard said the 300-mile road is in terrible condition. He asked why the government can afford to offer $300,000,000 for paving the Alaska Highway and building other northern roads, but cannot improve the Bella Coola highway, in Mr. Howard's federal constituency. "He can jump in the lake," answered Mr. Gagliardi. "I can run my own affairs. You tell him to look after his own business and stop being a disgrace to the nation."

Part of Mr. Howard's poetic protest reads: "The road is pimpled and warted with rocks. "There are sharp rocks, spiked rocks, rugged, jagged, and craggy rocks. "They are round, square, conical, oval, notched, toothed and spired. There are large rocks, medium-sized rocks, king-sized rocks and even some pebbles."

Meanwhile, In Alberta

EDMONTON (CP) — Highway Minister Gagliardi, no stranger to speeding tickets in his home province of British Columbia, has picked up a $5 ticket for making an illegal left turn.

City police issued the ticket after Mr. Gagliardi's car collided with an Edmonton transit system bus last Sunday.

New Antibiotic

Penicillin's Successor

LONDON (Reuters)—A new antibiotic drug likely to prove the biggest discovery since penicillin has been developed by British scientists, it was announced here Thursday.

As potent as penicillin, the new antibiotic, ceporin, works even faster, will be cheaper to produce, and is successful with patients allergic to penicillin itself, its developers said.

EIGHT YEARS
Ceporin was developed by Glaxo Laboratories and will be produced solely in Britain. A research team of hundreds spent eight years and £1,500,000 on the project.

Dr. F. J. Wilkins, chairman and managing director, said ceporin had been found to be highly successful in the treatment of infections of the lungs, kidneys and bladder, and infections resistant to penicillin.

NO SIDE EFFECTS
About 200 patients had been treated with ceporin, he said, and the results were "miraculously rapid."

"So far, absolutely no side effects have been observed," Dr. J. P. Currie, director of antibiotic research, said ceporin was used after everything, including penicillin, had failed to check meningitis developed by a 36-year-old man after a brain operation.

"Within 48 hours the man was sitting up in bed reading a newspaper." Ceporin has been approved by the Dunlop committee which controls the distribution of new drugs in Britain. It will be available to doctors next week.

Resigns

Resignation for personal reasons of Mr. Justice N. W. Whitaker, named last year to the B.C. Court of Appeal, was announced Thursday. The Vancouver Province says Vancouver lawyer Ernest Bolton Bull, 57, has been named a justice of the court.

'Apartment' Dwellers Burned Out

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berlin firemen found three bodies in a burnt haystack and discovered tramps had turned it into apartments. The bodies were identified as those of three hoboes in their late 20s, police said.

Reds Nearing U.S. Embassy

SAIGON (UPI)—A platoon of heavily-armed Communist guerrillas penetrated to within rifle shot range of the U.S. embassy in Saigon Thursday in an attempt to kidnap a local Vietnamese official, reliable sources said.

The opposition leaders are supposed to be reporting back to Mr. Pearson the views of their followers about setting an agreed time limit on the flag debate. They also may go into the question of how soon the debate will start.

But the question of a time limit was being treated Thursday as more or less a formality. No one expected Opposition Leader Diefenbaker or the Conservatives to agree ahead of time to a time limit.

NOT LONG
Nevertheless there was considerable confidence, both among government supporters and members of the official opposition, that even without a time limit the debate will not run long. The highest estimate seemed to be 10 debating days. Two factors are cited in the running speculation on the flag in support of the conclusion that debate will be relatively short.

DECISION WANTED
One was the evident desire of a large number of Conservatives to have a decision on the design recommended by the committee—a single red maple leaf on a white ground with a vertical red bar at each side. Many Conservatives believe, as does Mr. Diefenbaker, that the new design is unacceptable. But they aren't prepared to carry on a debate matching the 22 days of the previous one last summer.

GET-TOUGH
The second debate-shortening factor is tied up with Mr. Pearson's get-tough line during a speech and television interview at Hamilton, Ont. Wednesday night.

Mr. Pearson said he expects the recommended design will be adopted by Christmas.

DEBATE ON REPORT
"We'll have a debate on the report of the flag committee and then we'll have a decision on that report."

Mr. Diefenbaker interpreted the words as threatening closure—use of a formal procedure under the rules to cut off debate. He asked about it in the Commons Thursday.

AGAINST INTERESTS
Acting Prime Minister Martin, subbing for his absent chief, wouldn't confirm or deny it but said he is sure Mr. Diefenbaker agrees it wouldn't be in the national interest for Commons business to be unduly protracted.

Mr. Diefenbaker suggested that the government should postpone the flag debate in favor of other important legislation. Mr. Martin replied he's glad to see Mr. Diefenbaker agreeing that there shouldn't be undue delay in handling Commons business.

END IN SIGHT
The whole tone of the exchange seemed to be that Mr. Diefenbaker recognized the end of the flag fuss was in sight, provided the government did not rub it in and bowed to pressure to put legislation ahead of the flag debate.

In Tory Future?

Fulton

Balcer

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — Are recent public statements by prominent Conservatives evidence that Opposition Leader Diefenbaker is a target of leadership ambitions among associates?

A rash of speculation on this question has broken out in the last 10 days, spurred by statements on the proposed constitutional amending formula and the flag issue which differ either on policy or parliamentary tactics with stands taken by Mr. Diefenbaker.

EXPLANATIONS
But explanations of internal differences are almost as numerous as the evidence of such differences.

One theory is that Davie Fulton, the former justice minister, is campaigning to succeed the 68-year-old national leader. Mr. Fulton says he has no immediate plans to run.

Fulton Denies Plot To Dethrone Chief

TORONTO (CP)—B.C. Conservative leader Davie Fulton said today he is not engaged in any "conspiracy" against the Conservative party leadership and has no plans to return to federal politics at present. "There's a leader of the Progressive Conservative party and, as far as I'm concerned, he's my leader and the question of a new leader does not arise," the former federal justice minister said. To a reporter who drew his attention to a quotation from one federal Conservative source that "the Balcer-Fulton axis is at work," Mr. Fulton replied: "There is absolutely no foundation for that. I haven't spoken to Mr. Balcer for three or four months."

Quebec Conservative leader Leon Balcer, a former cabinet colleague of Mr. Fulton, has been reported as leading a group of Conservatives in caucus opposing Mr. Diefenbaker's criticisms of the Liberal government.

Sentence For Life Demanded

MISSION (CP) — Two communities demanded Thursday that convicted sex slayer Kenneth Lloyd Meeker be incarcerated for life. (See earlier story, Page 8.)

The demands from the councils of the district of Mission and neighboring Mission City were wired to the federal cabinet. They follow Tuesday's announcement that the cabinet commuted Meeker's sentence of death to life imprisonment for the strangulation of 12-year-old Alice Mather in a gravel pit here in June, 1963.

Mayor Ethel Ogle of Mission City, who expressed shock Wednesday Meeker had been "let off that easily," said the councils of the two communities decided to protest separately.

Meanwhile, the Provincial Council of Women, which seeks abolition of capital punishment, also suggested he be kept in jail for life.

North Cowichan

Negative Vote Over Water Disappointing

NORTH COWICHAN — Council Thursday expressed great disappointment about Duncan city council's recent negative vote on a North Cowichan proposal for a city water extension to the Somenos Lake subdivision.

Reeve Donald Morton said he considered the proposal by his council as an acceptance of the city's offer. The $42,000 water extension would serve 60 properties. Following a brief discussion Reeve Morton suggested meeting soon with the city in committee.

The North Cowichan council had suggested that the city take a referendum vote in the Somenos area. The city felt the municipality should take the vote and also objected to a few other technicalities.

A committee recently set up to investigate "inadequacies in services" in the Chemainus area, reported it found insufficient funds in the Chemainus water district, lack of communications between the complainants and the municipality, an error in policy concerning an unserved piece of property sold to Karl Schutz on the Trans-Canada Highway, and that services provided by the present consulting engineer are sufficient.

Meet with Indians

North Cowichan council decided to meet with the Cowichan Indian council this month to discuss a road problem. In a letter, Cowichan Indian agent Ron Sampson stated the band council requests the municipality to take over Boys Road, a thoroughfare through reserve land used by whites as well as Indians.

The band was refused help by the provincial government which claimed the road is mainly used by the Indian population. The operator of the Anderson farm, who had been asked some time ago to contribute something to the road maintenance, also turned down the request.

A request from the Cowichan school board for completion of the James Street sidewalk and the construction of another one from the Trans-Canada Highway to Alexander and Quimichan schools will be studied by the public works committee.

North Cowichan residents will decide whether or not they are in favor of fluoridation at the December municipal election. Council Thursday gave three readings to the bylaw. Separate votes will be taken in the different areas including that part of the municipality using city

COURTENAY — Philip Maroff, currently under a four-year sentence for false pretences, being served in the penitentiary, at New Westminster was given a concurrent 12 months' sentence for the same offence, when he appeared before Magistrate J. Ryland Thursday.

Maroff was charged for cashing a $25 worthless cheque against Overwater stores in Courtenay Jan. 23.

William Douglas Miller, appearing for sentence on a charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency was sentenced to six months definite and 12 months indeterminate.

Miller who had pleaded not guilty, was convicted on Tuesday. He was involved with a 15-year-old girl, whom he took to his residence, keeping her there until 10 a.m. the next day, when RCMP arrived in response to a call from the girl's mother.

Magistrate Ryland told the convicted man "It seems to me you have to be kept under supervision for some time before they can make anything of you."

Miller had previous convictions for theft, contributing and impaired driving.

CUMBERLAND—A three-year-old boy was rescued by firemen Thursday from his hiding place inside a burning, smoke-filled house here.

FATHER AWAY

Fire was reported in the Allan Avenue home of David Bell at 3:30 p.m., about the time when four of his other children would have been starting home from school.

Inlet Project Open Today

NANAIMO — Mayor Pete Maffeo and other city dignitaries will officially open the Commercial Inlet development at 4 p.m. today.

The ceremony will be held at the foot of Gordon Street, which, when the project is completed, will connect with an extension of Front Street. The dedication ceremony was scheduled following the announcement that a $261,500 contract for fill and preliminary construction had been awarded to Doug Robinson Construction of Nanaimo.

For Sexual Promiscuity

Madison Avenue, Parents Blamed

By LYNNE WALLER

NANAIMO — Madison Avenue advertising keyed to sexual attraction was cited Thursday by a Nanaimo obstetrician and gynecologist as a major cause of sexual promiscuity among youngsters.

Parents could reduce the impact. Using the Profumo scandal as an example, he said parents could use it as a springboard for a little moralizing instead of saying, "Yowie, look at that Mandy!"

Battered So Much

"These kids are getting battered so much by this stimulation that I sometimes wonder if by the time they are 40, they will be interested in sex at all," said Dr. Howey.

"Let's take the Barbie doll as a healthy little lesson in materialism. This little doll comes complete with trousseau."

Million Dollars

"I'm going to make a million dollars. I'm going to make a little diaphragm kit for that doll," he said pointing up the fact that children are being pushed too early towards sex "because it seems to be the thing to do."

"There are tremendous pressures on young people... Babies are being produced that aren't wanted and it is a completely preventable thing. There is no reason why through abstinence or birth control this should happen."

"What am I going to tell my three-year-old daughter when she becomes a teenager? I think I will warn her of the tragic results of pre-marital intercourse and if she indicates to me she won't follow this advice, I will teach her birth control. I'm not going to advise anybody else, though, because you can be put in jail for that in Canada," he said.

Dr. Howey chose to call going steady "heterosexual promiscuity" and said it was the practice of two young people of the opposite sex being together almost constantly without someone watching.

Makes it Easy

He said the automobile makes it easy for young couples to find the privacy that can lead to promiscuity. When cars were not as plentiful, it was difficult for teenagers to find this privacy.

Dr. Howey sounded the call for a royal commission investigation of teenage promiscuity when he spoke to a PTA group Wednesday. But Thursday he said he did not see how a royal commission could act without first having a thorough statistical study of the situation.

Fluoridation Urged

'Too Many Kids Have Rotten Teeth'

NANAIMO — The director of the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit urged a combined group of three parent-teacher associations to turn out to counter the anti-fluoridation vote at the civic elections Dec. 12.

Dr. Gerald Bonham told Harewood, Princess Royal and Fairview PTA's at a meeting Wednesday "I don't think this is an issue in which we can afford to be apathetic."

He said he was sure persons opposed to fluoridation of city water would be out in force in an attempt to veto the move and urged the parents to turn out to vote on the issue to destroy the effect of the anti-fluoridation ballot.

"The whole fuss is that we have too many kids with rotten teeth," he said.

Dr. Bonham said that 30 per cent of the population of the United States receives the benefit of fluoridated water and that 25 per cent of the Canadian population east of the Rockies has fluoridation in effect. There are 13 communities in B.C. with fluoridated water supplies.

He discounted allusions to harmful side-effects attributed to fluoride in community water.

Envelope in Cafe Contained $1,170

NANAIMO — A bulky brown envelope containing $1,170 in bills was found in a Nanaimo cafe Wednesday.

Police said the money was returned to the owner, an employee of National Fisheries at Campbell River.

Clue to Coastal Past

Sproat Lake Cross Left by Spaniard?

By MARGARET TREBETZ

ALBERNI—An Alberni housewife looking for a pair of earrings turned up a little brass cross which may be a clue to Vancouver Island visits of Spaniards missionaries in the late 1700s.

Mrs. W. A. Ritchie, who now lives at 719 Tebo Street, originally found the little cross about 1935 when she and her husband were clearing land for a home on Lakeshore Road near Sproat Lake.

ROOTS OF TREE

The centuries old relic bearing the inscriptions "Junipero Serra" on one side and "1713-1784" on the other, was found in the earth dug up with roots of a large tree, she said.

Mrs. Ritchie had almost forgotten its existence. She came upon it again recently while looking through a jewelry box at her home.

Father Wilfred Brazeau shed some light about the Spanish missionary Junipero Serra (Miguel Jose), and expressed hope that an early day time capsule buried somewhere in the Alberni Valley will someday be found.

The Franciscans, who are reported to have come before the military to Nootka on the West Coast, withdrew their Vancouver Island missionaries in 1785.

TWO CHAPTERS

Father Wilfred said chronicles of the order contain two chapters about Vancouver Island.

According to the old records, it is believed that a bottle containing documents was buried in the Alberni Valley area during one of the expeditions the brothers made there.

Father Wilfred speculated that the cross was worn by one of these missionaries and was either dropped or buried at the spot near Sproat Lake which was known by the Indians as Kleevoet.

Junipero Serra, born in Majorca in 1713, went to Mexico in 1749 to work among the Indians of Queretaro and to teach at San Fernando College in Mexico City.

MANY MISSIONS

He was appointed superior of the California missions and in 1769 he went with 16 companions to Monterey. Over a period of years, he founded many missions which became settlements in the present state of California.

Junipero Serra was so well known and respected that it is probable his followers carried crosses commemorating the great Franciscan—crosses bearing the dates of his birth and death, said Father Wilfred.

Cause for canonization of the pioneer missionary is being studied in Rome, he said.

Kiernan Fails to Satisfy Twin Cities Delegation

A delegation from the Twin Cities expressed disappointment after meeting Recreation Minister Kiernan to discuss access to China Creek Park.

They wanted the government to put up $45,000 to build a little more than one mile of new road connecting the highway to Bamfield with the waterfront on the Alberni Canal.

The China Creek property, handed over by MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River to the government for development as a park last spring, is sought as a boat-launching site.

This initial development, the delegation said, would give resident and tourist fishermen a five-mile head start on the journey to fishing grounds at Nahmint.

Mr. Kiernan refused to make any firm commitment, the delegation said.

"Frankly, I'm disappointed," said Ald. Jack Perry of Port Alberni. "After 4½ years we seem to have made very little progress."

Ald. John Williamson of Alberni said between 15,000 and 20,000 residents have no adequate boat-launching facilities.

Dennis O'Brien, chairman of the Alberni harbor commission, said two existing launching ramps did not begin to meet the needs of the area.

Journey To Town Fatal

NANAIMO — A deer was killed by a car near the downtown area Wednesday night. Driver of the car that struck the animal was identified as E. Bernhard Schulenberg, 1940 Arzyle Avenue. The mishap occurred on Wall Street near the curling rink.

In an attempt to avoid collision with another car heading down the wrong side of Kennedy Street Wednesday night, T. W. Miller, 11 Victoria Road, struck a parked car. No one was injured.

Drivers escaped injury in a two-car collision at Bowen Road and Macleary Street Thursday morning. Drivers were identified as Gunner Magnusson, 686 Gilvin Avenue, and Cornelia Brands, 103 Ashlar Avenue.

Cobble Hill Pensioners Hear Council Report

COBBLE HILL — President Stephen Douglas and Vice-President John Ashman reported on the Vancouver Island council held in Nanaimo in October, at Wednesday's meeting of the Old Age Pensioners' Organisation, Cobble Hill branch.

Members learned that the council has decided to split the Vancouver Island unit into two sections, North and South, so branch delegates will not have to travel great distances to attend council meetings.

DUES TO VANCOUVER
Up to the present time, the council meetings have been held twice a year in Nanaimo.

PORT ALBERNI — Safety committee of District 70 school board has been asked to study a problem created by a provincial highways department policy.

Removal of 30-mile-an-hour signs from school zones on all B.C. Highways was viewed with alarm in connection with the Sprout Elementary School, according to discussion at the board meeting.

ADDS TO HAZARD

A letter from principal Ray Gaudet pointed out that the school driveway is located in a depression in the road. A curve in the road south of the driveway adds to the hazard, the board was told.

Man Jailed At Nanaimo

NANAIMO — Robert Livingstone, 38, who gave himself up to RCMP at Kamloops last month has been sentenced to one month on two charges of attempting to cash forged cheques at two Nanaimo Safe stores Dec. 31, 1963.

Livingstone told the court he moved to Kamloops this year and was not aware the police were looking for him.

A highways department project will eliminate the depression to some extent and will widen shoulders of the road in the area, according to a report, but trustee Mrs. Helen Ford pointed out that it may be weeks before this is accomplished.

"It's terribly dangerous," she said.

Alberni Pioneers

Old Landmark Tells Family's History

ALBERNI — The 67-year-old home of a pioneer family changed hands last week when Miss Olive Gill, daughter of the builder, sold her property to Mr. and Mrs. William Hebert, Beaver Creek district.

The tall house on the hill between Beaver Creek Road and Mersey Road has been a landmark since it was built in the 1880s, by the late Edmund Gill. The family, which at that time consisted of the parents, a son, Keith, and three daughters, Ethel, Myrtle and Olive, moved into the house in 1887 from a log cabin on the farm which Mr.

Centennial Project Decided

CEDAR — Cedar district centennial committee has made a final decision on projects for the 1967 centennial year.

Chairman Harry Jenson announced Thursday that the committee is submitting a request to the provincial centennial committee for approval of completion of the North Oyster fire hall and the purchase of property in North Cedar for a park.

BLACKSMITH

Another son, Les, was born in the "new" house. Mother of the family was Edith, daughter of pioneer blacksmith, Thomas Kirkpatrick.

Miss Gill, who returned to her old home to live after a career as a stewardess on coastal steamships, is packing to move to a newer, smaller house close by and still within sight of the school named for her father.

She has given the piano, which had stood in the corner of the living room since 1911, to the Alberni Legion to replace the instrument which was damaged in the tidal wave.

FAMILY HEIRLOOMS

As she packs she comes across items which have gone out of use with the changing times. Aisles, needles and lasts that her father used for repairing the family's shoes were typical of these.

She found the cutlery which was issued to her brother Keith when he served in the First World War.

The Heberts, who will move in this month, have four sons and a daughter to fill the roomy old house which the Gills have taken care of since the district's early days.

Drinks by Road Costly for Five

DUNCAN — Herbert Mawbey of Alberni and Floyd Tommy, Ester Jack, Irene Charlie and Helen Elliott, all of Duncan, were fined $50 each after they pleaded guilty to consuming liquor in public.

They had been checked by police near the Silver Bridge here, Oct. 30, in a parked car. One of the accused told court they had stopped there to check the car's headlights.

Multiple Troubles Spoil Mars Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Mariner III spacecraft was rocketed toward Mars Thursday, but a combination of problems apparently ruined the first U.S. effort to investigate the planet. Mariner IV was being readied for a second try later in the month. Tracking data was fuzzy, but it indicated that the second stage of the booster rocket shut down four seconds too soon. Solar cell problems would have silenced the satellite anyway.

TELAWA (CP) — It's happened in comic books. It's happened in movies and Wednesday it happened at Telawa. The fire chief answered an alarm and when he arrived, it was his own house going up in smoke.

Fire chief Bill Ross and the volunteer fire brigade were unable to stop flames from destroying his $14,000 home here, 130 miles east of Prince Rupert.

Sentence For Life Demanded

MISSION (CP) — Two communities demanded Thursday that convicted sex slayer Kenneth Lloyd Meeker be incarcerated for life. (See earlier story, Page 8.)

The demands from the councils of the district of Mission and neighboring Mission City were wired to the federal cabinet. They follow Tuesday's announcement that the cabinet commuted Meeker's sentence of death to life imprisonment for the strangulation of 12-year-old Alice Mather in a gravel pit here in June, 1963. Mayor Ethel Ogle of Mission City, who expressed shock Wednesday Meeker had been "let off that easily," said the councils of the two communities decided to protest separately. Meanwhile, the Provincial Council of Women, which seeks abolition of capital punishment, also suggested he be kept in jail for life.

'Go Jump in the Lake'

KAMLOOPS (CP) — An angry Highway Minister Gagliardi has told Frank Howard to jump in a lake, mind his own business and stop being a disgrace to the nation. He was replying to a letter which Mr. Howard, New Democratic MP for Skeena, wrote to him demanding development of a road between Williams Lake, in the Cariboo, and Bella Coola, on the coast.

Meanwhile, In Alberta

EDMONTON (CP) — Highway Minister Gagliardi, no stranger to speeding tickets in his home province of British Columbia, has picked up a $5 ticket for making an illegal left turn.

City police issued the ticket after Mr. Gagliardi's car, collided with an Edmonton transit system bus last Sunday.

Mr. Howard said the 300-mile road is in terrible condition.

He asked why the government can afford to offer $300,000,000 for paving the Alaska Highway and building other northern roads, but cannot improve the Bella Coola highway, in Mr. Howard's federal constituency.

"He can jump in the lake," answered Mr. Gagliardi. "I can run my own affairs. You tell him to look after his own business and stop being a disgrace to the nation."

Part of Mr. Howard's poetic protest reads:

"The road is pimpled and warted with rocks.

"There are sharp rocks, spiked rocks, rugged, jagged, and craggy rocks.

"They are round, square, conical, oval, notched, toothed and spired. There are large rocks, medium-sized rocks, king-sized rocks and even some pebbles."

FLAG TRUCE TODAY?

OTTAWA (CP)—The political party leaders assemble in Prime Minister Pearson's office today in a new atmosphere of confidence that the Commons may soon come to a decision on a Canadian flag.

New Antibiotic

Penicillin's Successor

LONDON (Reuters)—A new antibiotic drug likely to prove the biggest discovery since penicillin has been developed by British scientists, it was announced here Thursday.

As potent as penicillin, the new antibiotic, ceporin, works even faster, will be cheaper to produce, and is successful with patients allergic to penicillin itself, its developers said.

EIGHT YEARS

Ceporin was developed by Glaxo Laboratories and will be produced solely in Britain. A research team of hundreds spent eight years and £1,500,000 on the project.

Dr. F. J. Wilkins, chairman and managing director, said ceporin had been found to be highly successful in the treatment of infections of the lungs, kidneys and bladder, and infections resistant to penicillin.

NO SIDE EFFECTS

About 200 patients had been treated with ceporin, he said, and the results were "miraculously rapid."

"So far, absolutely no side effects have been observed."

Dr. J. P. Currie, director of antibiotic research, said ceporin was used after everything, including penicillin, had failed to check meningitis developed by a 36-year-old man after a brain operation.

"Within 48 hours the man was sitting up in bed reading a newspaper."

Ceporin has been approved by the Dunlop committee which controls the distribution of new drugs in Britain. It will be available to doctors next week.

Resigns

Resignation for personal reasons of Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker, named last year to the B.C. Court of Appeal, was announced Thursday. The Vancouver Province says Vancouver lawyer Ernest Bolton Bull, 57, has been named a justice of the court.

William Head

Convict Flees In Fog

Police early today were seeking William Head inmate William J. White, who fled the minimum security prison under the cover of fog about 9:30 p.m. Thursday.

He was wearing institutional clothing and a brown jacket.

White is five feet seven and three-quarter inches tall, weighs 147 pounds, has brown hair with bits of grey, a low forehead and walks with his left shoulder high.

The opposition leaders are supposed to be reporting back to Mr. Pearson the views of their followers about setting an agreed time limit on the flag debate. They also may go into the question of how soon the debate will start.

But the question of a time limit was being treated Thursday as more or less a formality. No one expected Opposition Leader Diefenbaker or the Conservatives to agree ahead of time to a time limit.

NOT LONG

Nevertheless there was considerable confidence, both among government supporters and members of the official opposition, that even without a time limit the debate will not run long. The highest estimate seemed to be 10 debating days. Two factors are cited in the running speculation on the flag in support of the conclusion that debate will be relatively short.

DECISION WANTED

One was the evident desire of a large number of Conservatives to have a decision on the design recommended by the committee—a single red maple leaf on a white ground with a vertical red bar at each side. Many Conservatives believe, as does Mr. Diefenbaker, that the new design is unacceptable. But they aren't prepared to carry on a debate matching the 22 days of the previous one last summer.

GET-TOUGH

The second debate-shortening factor is tied up with Mr. Pearson's get-tough line during a speech and television interview at Hamilton, Ont. Wednesday night.

Mr. Pearson said he expects the recommended design will be adopted by Christmas.

DEBATE ON REPORT

"We'll have a debate on the report of the flag committee and then we'll have a decision on that report."

Mr. Diefenbaker interpreted the words as threatening closure—use of a formal procedure under the rules to cut off debate. He asked about it in the Commons Thursday.

AGAINST INTERESTS

Acting Prime Minister Martin, subbing for his absent chief, wouldn't confirm or deny it but said he is sure Mr. Diefenbaker agrees it wouldn't be in the national interest for Commons business to be unduly protracted.

Mr. Diefenbaker suggested that the government should postpone the flag debate in favor of other important legislation. Mr. Martin replied he was glad to see Mr. Diefenbaker agreeing that there shouldn't be undue delay in handling Commons business.

END IN SIGHT

The whole tone of the exchange seemed to be that Mr. Diefenbaker recognized the end of the flag-fuss was in sight, provided the government did not rub it in and bowed to pressure to put legislation ahead of the flag debate.

Speculation In Capital

Which Team

Diefenbaker

In Tory Future?

Balcer

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — Are recent public statements by prominent Conservatives evidence that Opposition Leader Diefenbaker is a target of leadership ambitions among associates?

A rash of speculation on this question has broken out in the last 10 days, spurred by statements on the proposed constitutional amending formula and the flag issue which differ either on policy or parliamentary tactics with stands taken by Mr. Diefenbaker.

EXPLANATIONS

But explanations of internal differences are almost as numerous as the evidence of such differences.

One theory is that Davie Fulton, the former justice minister, is campaigning to succeed the 68-year-old national leader. Mr. Fulton says he has no immediate plans.

Others say that Mr. Balcer, a former cabinet colleague of Mr. Fulton, has been reported as leading a group of Conservatives in caucus opposing Mr. Diefenbaker's criticisms of the Liberal government.

Fulton Denies Plot To Dethrone Chief

TORONTO (CP)—B.C. Conservative leader Davie Fulton said today he is not engaged in any "conspiracy" against the Conservative party leadership and has no plans to return to federal politics at present. "There's a leader of the Progressive Conservative party and, as far as I'm concerned, he's my leader and the question of a new leader does not arise," the former federal justice minister said.

To a reporter who drew his attention to a quotation from one federal Conservative source that "the Balcer-Fulton axis is at work," Mr. Fulton replied:

"There is absolutely no foundation for that. I haven't spoken to Mr. Balcer for three or four months."

Quebec Conservative leader Leon Balcer, a former cabinet colleague of Mr. Fulton, has been reported as leading a group of Conservatives in caucus opposing Mr. Diefenbaker's criticisms of the Liberal government.
